Eastern Heat Wave Taking Heavy Toll

NEW MARK FOR YEAR IS MADE

Chance For Relief Seen As Showers Are Forecast For Tonight

RAIN BREAKS HOT SPELL IN CHICAGO

Farmers Sustain Huge Loss As Crops Are Reported Burning In Fields

(By United Press Leased Wire)
NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The east sweltered in a sea of humid, sticky atmosphere today with thermometers soaring around the 85 mark and many prostrations reported. One man collapsed here where the temperature passed 80 degrees. The night was one of the hottest of the year. Showers were forecast for late today.

Pittsburgh reported two dead from heat, with today's temperature threatening to exceed yesterday's mark of 96 degrees.

In Harrisburg, Pa., temperature neared 100 degrees and crops were reported burning up.

Albany N. Y., reported a temperature around 75 degrees with humidity at 90 instead of the normal August figure of 60.

In Chicago and Illinois the heat of Tuesday, which killed three and prostrated many, was broken by a heavy rain which sent rivers out of their banks and did heavy damage.

Indianapolis and Indiana generally were still in the grip of the heat wave Wednesday.

Temperatures as high as 102 were reported during the last three days accompanied by a number of prostrations but no deaths.

The heat wave persisted in Ohio where temperatures have been climbing steadily since Sunday. Cincinnati had a temperature of 97 yesterday and a new record for the season of 94 was set in Columbus. There were numerous prostrations in Ohio. A woman died from heat yesterday in Cleveland and a man died today in Canton where the temperature stood at 92.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 6.—Relief from torrid temperatures came to Kansas City today after a cool rain which sent the mercury down to 75. For the past ten days thermometers hovered between 90 and 100 degrees.

DENVER, Aug. 6.—Light overcast were in order today. At 8 a. m. the temperature was 56.

SEE FATE HAND AS S. A. GIRLS' ARMS BROKEN

When it rains, it pours. Accidents, both taking place at virtually the same time, in different parts of the city, and both causing injury of the same nature to two little girls, both not yet 8 years old—this was the kind of a hand fate dealt to June Buffham and Maurine Lake here late yesterday.

While playing in a swing at her home, at Fairhaven and Bristol streets, shortly before 7 p. m. yesterday, June Buffham, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Buffham, fell, the blow breaking her right forearm in two places.

Falling from a swing at the Lowell school, on Flower street, early last night, Maurine Lake, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Lake, 1017 West Bishop street, sustained a double break of her right forearm, at virtually the same part of the arm of the Buffham girls' break.

Both girls were attended by physicians who are located in the same downtown office building, and both today reported their patients as resting well.

BRITISH AGREE WITH SOVIET ON TRADE PACT

LONDON, Aug. 6.—An agreement between England and Russia governing trade relations has been reached. After a breakdown in the negotiations between representatives of the two governments yesterday, conferences were resumed today and difficulties encountered in earlier discussions overcome.

M. Rakovsky, chief of the Russian delegation, on leaving the office at 6 p. m., said an agreement had been reached regarding a commercial treaty and that he was hopeful a general agreement will be reached soon.

WALTON POLLS HEAVILY IN VOTE RACE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 6.—The Ku Klux Klan issue in Oklahoma remained unsettled today when incomplete returns in Tuesday's primaries showed ex-Governor Jack Walton and Congressman J. B. Howard running a close contest for the Democratic nomination for United States senator.

Walton and his supporters claimed they would carry the state by a sweeping majority when returns were brought in from rural precincts.

"I feel certain I will be the next senator from Oklahoma," the impeached governor told his followers at campaign headquarters here today.

Unofficial totals from 1150 precincts at 10:30 a. m.: Howard, 33,219; Walton, 30,981; Wrightman, 20,322; T. P. Gore, 18,833; S. P. Freeling, 6,274.

W. B. Pine, Okmulgee oil man, and Klan candidate, was leading the field by 5,000 votes for the Republican nomination for senator.

FULLERTON MAN LEAVES WIFE BIG ESTATE

An estate valued at $120,000 left by the late Edward K. Benchley, former mayor of Fullerton and president of the Farmers and Merchants National bank of that city, was left entirely to his widow Mrs. Emma M. Benchley. It was shown today by his will, filed for probate in the superior court.

The estate consisted almost wholly of stocks and bonds, and was said to have an annual income of $7000.

Under the terms of the will Mrs. Benchley received the income from the estate, which is to be held in trust for her by the bank for the period of her lifetime, in the event that she does not remarry. At her death or in the event that she remarries, the will provides that the estate shall be sold and the proceeds divided among the legal heirs, as provided by state law.

The will, consisting of but eleven typewritten lines, was dated July 29, 1920.

Among the securities listed in the estate were stocks in the bank of which he had been president, in the Benchley Warehouse Company, the Newton Process Manufacturing company, the Fullerton Building and Loan association, of Fullerton, and the Community Hotel company, owners of the California hotel at Fullerton.

LABOR OPENS ANTI-DAVIS CAMPAIGN

Gompers Declares Against Party Platform; Hits Wall Street Record

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 6.—The wrath of labor today, turned on the Democrats.

Samuel Gompers, chief of the American Federation of Labor, composed a strong denunciation of the Davis-Bryan ticket and the Democratic platform, charging directly that the Democrats have "turned their back on the workers."

It will be forwarded as an answer to William B. Wilson of the Democratic national campaign committee whose plea for postponement of the action endorsing La Follette was scorned by the Gompers executive committee.

Scores Platform

Gompers will set forth the reasons why labor turned from its former political friends, the Democrats, to align itself in a non-partisan way with the independent La Follette ticket.

He will say, the United Press is informed, that he first decided to break away when the Democratic platform was announced—a platform which "pledges the party to regulate hours and conditions of all labor, a proposal against which the federation has struggled throughout its whole history. It is silent upon the question of the court injunction issue and plays into the hands of enemies of labor on the issue of the railroad labor board."

Selection of John W. Davis, whose law firm acted for big Wall street banks including J. P. Morgan, Morgan and Co., only cemented the break, Gompers will tell Wilson.

Refuse to Wait

At the time when the Democratic party returns to the principles for which labor has fought, then and not until then will labor return to its support, he will say.

It develops that the executive council received notification of Wilson's appeal some time before it went on record for La Follette. Wilson demanded that the Federation wait until Davis made his acceptance speech at Clarksburg, W. Va., next week.

Noted Artist Urges Whipping Post for Leopold and Loeb; Hits Intellectual Claim.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 6.—Revival of the whipping post for Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold was recommended by James Montgomery Flagg, noted artist, here today.

"Give them about forty lashes," Flagg said. "Then put them both in a zoo. That should take all the murder out of their little hearts."

"Super-intellectuals! Bah!"

THIEF RESUMES ACTIVITIES IN ORANGE

The mysterious thief who has for the past four days been terrorizing home owners on the outskirts of Orange again made himself known last night, operating from the most part on North Orange street, according to reports to the police.

Charles H. Jester, of 469 North Orange street, reported to the police that the thief attempted to gain entrance into his house, but was unable to do so.

Other reports came in from the same vicinity, and the general opinion was that the man made a complete survey of all the houses on North Orange, as footprints could be seen encircling each house.

Charles Piester, who lives on the corner of Tustin and Collins streets, reported to the authorities that the intruder aroused him from sleep about 11:30 o'clock last night, and as he turned on a light, the man left hurriedly. Piester states that the man must be very tall as his fingerprints reach to a great height.

The house of Leonard Cole, who lives on North Cambridge street, was entered Monday night, but nothing stolen. Entrance was gained through a window on the South side of the house, after a screen had been torn from its place.

The theory that the car found deserted near Orange in a ditch might belong to the mysterious robber was exploded this morning when City Marshal E. M. Jensen discovered that it belonged to a traveler who had gone to town in search of mechanical aid for his car. The lights of the vehicle were burning at the time of its discovery, and it was thought for a time that it had been abandoned by the thief.

BUCKSHOT WILL GREET MELON PILFERERS

War on watermelon thieves and vandals was announced today by local merchants who have, they declare, suffered losses from wanton destruction by youthful invaders of their melon patches. Buckshot is promised to prowlers who henceforth take such liberties, particularly in the district just west of Santa Ana, according to County Probation Officer R. R. Miller.

Miller has just apprehended two boys, he said, members of a party of five youths who raided the melon patch of Justin H. Stewart on West Fifth street one night last week.

At that time, it was said, Stewart trained his shotgun on the raiders, but the safety catch on his gun prevented him from shooting until the boys were out of range. Two nights later his patch was again raided and about thirty melons wantonly destroyed, it was claimed.

Similar complaints from other ranchers in the same district had caused feeling to run high, Miller said, and now the ranchers are determined to protect their property with buckshot, if necessary.

More than one rancher, it is said, has moved his bed into the melon patch, to be in readiness for all comers. Stewart is one of these.

"The ranchers say they don't object to having the boys help themselves to a melon or two, but they do strenuously object to wanton destruction of many melons," said Miller.

"Most of the ranchers recognize boyhood's inalienable right to steal watermelons, and they don't object to that. But they do object to vandalism."

SEN. CAPPER WINS IN KANSAS PRIMARY

(By United Press Leased Wire)
TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 6.—Senator Arthur Capper, farm bloc leader, was overwhelmingly endorsed for renomination in the Kansas primaries Tuesday. Returns showed today. The Republican senator was running ahead of his two opponents two to one or better in most precincts.

Gov. Jonathan Davis, Democrat, was also renominated.

Lieut. Gov. Paul S. Pausen won the Republican nomination for governor, the early returns indicated, with W. R. Stubbs, former governor, and Clyde M. Reed, public utilities commissioner, contesting closely for second place.

Attorney General Charles B. Griffith, opposed by a Klan-endorsed candidate, Justin N. Beard, appeared to be renominated.

SISTERS IN CLASH OVER DEED

FRAUD CLAIM IS MADE IN S. A. COURT

Daughters of Civil War Veteran Accused By Kin of Riverside

A sister arrayed against two other adult daughters of aged parents here today in a suit in which deeds to $20,000 worth of Santa Ana property was at issue and in which judicial airing was demanded of what the former of the kin claimed to have been fraudulent maneuver.

Asking a court decision to settle the asserted dispute in her favor, and more specifically demanding that deeds to $20,000 worth of property given to the Misses Carrie and Edith Alsbach of Santa Ana be set aside, the third sister, Mrs. Anna A. Bell, of Riverside, in filing her suit in superior court here, claimed operation against her interest.

Last March, Mrs. Bell alleged, the two other daughters of H. O. Alsbach, 80, and his wife, Emma, 74, obtained a deed to the property, executed in favor of Miss Carrie Alsbach.

Other Claims Made

This deed, the plaintiff alleges, was procured by taking advantage of the asserted feeble condition of the parents and by purported undue force and influence. The deed provided, she maintained, that the mother retain a homestead interest in the property during her lifetime.

In April, H. O. Alsbach, a civil war veteran, died, and in July, the plaintiff alleged, the daughters procured another deed from their mother relinquishing her interest in the property to Miss Carrie Alsbach. Similar charges of undue influence were made in connection with the latter deed.

The plaintiff claimed to have some interest, not defined, in the Alsbach property, which was said to consist of four acres in this city.

On the other hand, however, a striking situation seemed to have developed, in that dispute previously had been foreign to the family and controversy was wholly unexpected by the two defendants, according to Miss Carrie Alsbach.

Action Is Surprised

She had not seen the plaintiff, her sister, since the deeds were executed. Miss Alsbach stated, adding that relations of the three daughters previously had been cordial. In fact, she declared, she did not know a suit was contemplated, or even filed, until she was so informed by a Register reporter.

Miss Alsbach said the deeds were executed in her name so that she personally could manage her mother's property to the best interest of all parties involved.

Attorney C. W. Benshoof of Riverside represents Mrs. Bell in the action filed here.

FEAR CHAMP JOCKEY OUT OF RACING

Earl Sande Suffers Double Fracture of Leg When Thrown In Saratoga Event.

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, Aug. 6.—One of the greatest jockeys ever astride a horse probably was lost to racing when Earl Sande, conceded to be the best of present day riders, suffered a double fracture of his left leg when he was thrown from his mount in the first race here today.

The leg was fractured both above and below the knee and experts say Sande will never ride again.

Jockey Dawson, who was injured in the same spill, was later reported to be only slightly hurt.

REBEL ARRESTS CROWD JAILS IN BRAZIL

(By United Press Leased Wire)
BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 6.—Hundreds of military officers and civilians have been arrested in many parts of Brazil in connection with the military uprising in Sao Paulo, according to special dispatches to La Prensa today.

All available jails in Sao Paulo, Santos and Rio de Janeiro are crowded with political prisoners, including many high army officers, intellectuals and political leaders.

Among the prisoners are Admiral Aristides Macraus, Captain Newton Braga of the aviation corps, Mario Rodriguez, director of the Rio de Janeiro morning newspaper Corriero Da Manha; Felix Duarte, its manager; Paulo Bittencourt, editorial director, and several ex-deputies who have been friendly with the newspaper.

Rebel forces which evacuated Sao Paulo city last week are reported to have reached the borders of Mato Grosso, closely pursued by federals. There have been a number of bitter rear guard actions.

GERMANS AID SPEED PLAN IN PARLEY

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LONDON, Aug. 6.—The German delegation worked until dawn today completing its reply to the documents received from the allies at yesterday's plenary session of the reparations conference.

It is understood that Chancellor Marx and his colleagues made immediate concessions of a minor character, changing their original plans in order not to block proceedings and to assist in speeding up the work of the conference.

For instance, instead of submitting a series of counter proposals, they decided to confine their reply to detailed criticisms of the allied proposal.

Aid Speed Program

The answers were to be ready for a plenary session today. Thus Germany's first gesture at London was one of co-operation in the trying insistence upon speed.

The United Press understands that the German observations bear the following points:

- 1.—Urgent acceleration of economic evacuation of the Ruhr.
- 2.—Oppose continuation of allied railwaymen on Rhensish railways.
- 3.—Amnesty for all Ruhr prisoners and exiles.
- 4.—Object to continuance of deliveries of reparations and merchandise beyond the treaty dates.

Close Is Delayed

It now appears virtually impossible to finish the conference before next week.

Marx, Foreign Minister Stresemann and Dr. Luther called at No. 10 Downing street this morning and presented their reply to the allied leaders, who immediately went into session to consider the German recommendations.

The German reply, it was learned, urges that Germany be allowed to have representatives on any arbitration committees set up in cases where a default by the Reich is declared.

Girl Brutally Whipped By Two Women

LITTLE FOLK, Ark., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Francis Edwards, 17, was questioned by officers today in an effort to identify two women who kidnapped and flogged her into insensibility.

Mrs. Edwards told authorities that two strange women in an automobile seized her on a downtown street and drove with her to a lonely strip of woodland on the outskirts of the city. There she was stripped of all her clothing and lashed with a whip, she said.

"I didn't know them and knew of no reason for the attack."

Although badly bruised and cut up, the girl's condition was not serious.

FIX BLAME IN DEATH INQUIRY

Expert Reveals Alleged Confession of "Dickie" In Brutal Crime

BOYS TAKE LUNCH AS BODY IN AUTO

Defense Attorneys Charge Witness Insulted By Crowe In Grilling

(By United Press Leased Wire)
CRIMINAL COURT ROOM, CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Richard Loeb struck the fatal blows that caused the death of Robert Franks, it was revealed for the first time today at the judicial hearing of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb. Bernard Gluck, of New York, an alienist for the defense, made the revelation today.

Up to this time each of the boys had blamed the other for the actual attack upon Robert with the taped chisel. Heretofore other doctors had said they "believed" Loeb had dealt the blows.

Dr. Gluck, taking up his story of where he left off yesterday, was stopped by Benjamin Bachrach, a defense attorney, with the question:

Loeb Admits Blow.

"Did you talk with Loeb about who struck the blow?"

"Yes," Loeb told me he struck the blow himself."

This was the only reference made to the incident by Dr. Gluck but Dr. James Whitney Hall, chief of the defense alienists, leaned over to the United Press and said:

"This is the first time that the actual attacker of Robert has been made known. Loeb cried out to us 'I killed him; I killed him.' He said this not only one time but several times."

Dr. Gluck then went on to describe Loeb's lack of emotion in telling his own story of the crime.

Gives Grosseome Details.

"Dickie told me all of the gruesome details of the Franks murder," the doctor said.

"He told it all to me as a matter of incident, explaining how he and Leopold stopped off in their automobile for a light lunch while Robert's body was lying in the automobile."

"I was particularly interested in the great disparity in his telling of the crime and his utter lack of normal human feeling. I have examined more than 2000 criminals and I have never seen such a remarkable situation except in those cases where the criminal had a disordered mind."

Notes Lack of Emotion.

"I have been watching Dickie in court for a number of days and I could not help but notice how he sat and listened to the arguments intended for the purpose of hanging him without showing the least emotion. It seemed almost as though he were sitting in a theater, watching a college play or something of the sort," the doctor said.

In cross-examination Crowe demanded of Dr. Gluck the original notes to show whether they contained a memorandum of Dr. Gluck's assertion that Loeb admitted striking the fatal blows to Robert Franks.

The doctor pointed to a note which did not specify the conversation between Loeb and the witness but which the witness said he wrote down to refresh his memory of the admission.

Charges Insult.

Crowe, not satisfied with this notation, demanded to know whether the doctor made a specific note indicating Loeb confessed striking the fatal blow.

Dr. Gluck said it would take some time to look through his notes and when the court suggested suspension of the hearing until after lunch so that no time would be lost in looking up the notes, Crowe objected on the grounds he did not wish to have the notes in the witness' possession an hour and a half while he was not on the stand.

Defense attorneys leaped to their feet in unison, shouting "Infamous insult!" and Judge Caverly recessed until 1:45 p. m.

ARMY BIRDMEN TO ASSIST IN FIRE FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The forest fire situation in California continued quiet today with all fires officially reported either extinguished or under control.

The most powerful means yet employed to prevent another outbreak of fire during the two months of dry weather yet remaining were being employed today.

All army aviators engaged in daily practice flights from California fields have been ordered to watch for outbreaks of fire and report to the nearest ranger station or to their home fields upon landing.

During the period of official patrol of the forests by airplane during 1921 and 1922, fewer fires of any magnitude broke out than during any two years in the history of the state.

It is believed that these practice flights will result in almost complete survey of the state from the air every 24 hours.

I Spent Fortunes to win Beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My mother was rich and ambitious. From my earliest years she urged me to enhance my beauty. She gave me her methods and formulas. Then she took me in a world-search for the newer beauty helps.

Most people know the results. I became a famous beauty, and for many years I remained the same. And now, after 40 years in the limelight, I still play a beauty's part. I still look a girl of 18.

Since then I have made many trips to France. I have consulted noted experts and beauticians everywhere. I have spent fortunes to find all the latest discoveries. So I believe that I now have the greatest beauty helps in existence. And certainly my results seem to prove that.

I have been induced to place these helps at every woman's call. Druggists and toilet counters everywhere supply them—the very helps I use. Thus every woman may obtain for a trifle the helps that cost me fortunes.

One is a liquid cleanser which I call my Facial Youth. Lucile Lantime, the famous Parisian beauty, first told me what it did. Now leading beauty experts the world over are advising this great formula.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. So it cleans the skin, dead skin and clogs, and matter comes out with it. A woman never knows what a clean skin means until she tries this Facial Youth.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth sells everywhere for 75 cents. Beauty experts charge up to $5 for the same effects.

I shall be glad to send you a small bottle free if you mail this coupon. It will bring you new conceptions of what a clean skin means. My Beauty Book comes with it. Cut out the coupon now.

NAB MAN AT WIFE'S BIER AS BIGAMIST

LONG BEACH, Aug. 6.—Police are today preparing a bigamy case against J. A. Jordan, 49-year-old plumber, who is said to have confessed to a tangled marital career in which he was married five times.

The latest Mrs. Jordan fell to her death in a canyon at Mt. Ranier National park, and it was when Jordan came here for burial services that his matrimonial record was discovered.

It is asserted that in 1914 he came from Colorado with a woman known as Edith, with whom he lived as her common law husband.

She still is living, and police claim that under California statutes he is subject to a bigamy charge because of his marriage to Miss Sadie Kessler of this city, the woman killed in the canyon fall.

DERIVATION OF WORDS ROTARY TALK TOPIC

Delving into derivation of many words used in everyday business, Ralph Smedley, secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., entertained and instructed members of the Santa Ana Rotary club at their weekly meeting at St. Ann's inn at noon yesterday.

Smedley's gift of humor was brought to bear upon the information that he has at hand in relation to languages, as he looked about the room and fastened some word of ancient and perhaps dishonorable lineage to the craft or profession of persons present.

In discussing the development of language, Smedley pointed out that the slang of yesterday is often good English today.

C. L. Cotant, assistant cashier of the Orange County Trust and Savings bank, was chairman, assisted by Walter Vandermast and A. W. Rutan in the presentation of the program, which ended with a humorous piano number by A. W. Denny, of Anaheim.

A five-minute craft talk was given by Guy J. Gilbert, life insurance man. Gilbert went into interesting details as to how death claims are presented, passed upon and paid.

S. A. BOY'S DEMISE FOLLOWS OPERATION

Donnell S. Goodrich, 18, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Goodrich, 1327 North Broadway, died at the Santa Ana Valley hospital at 5:20 a. m. today, following an operation for appendicitis. He and his family had been residents of Santa Ana for six years, his father at one time practicing dentistry.

Goodrich was well known among the younger residents of the city and was formerly prominent in Boy Scout work here.

Funeral services will be held from the Winbiger Funeral Mission Home at 10 a. m. Friday, the Rev. Will A. Betts, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Besides his father and mother, Goodrich is survived by a sister, Miss Ruth Goodrich.

The process of digestion is controlled by non-striated or involuntary muscles.

CLOSE STREAMS IN MOUNTAINS TO ANGLERS

The official ban stood today upon hunting and angling in the principal mountain districts of Orange county.

Disappointed by the news that their plans for pursuit of fish and game must be postponed for the present season, nimrods and fishermen were nevertheless rallying to the support of the authorities in their steps to eliminate risk of forest fires in the Orange county watersheds during the present critical period.

The board of supervisors late yesterday passed a resolution closing the Santiago canyon and Trabuco canyon districts to hunting and fishing until arrival of the rainy season relieves the dangerous fire situation. District Attorney A. P. Nelson was today getting the resolution into official form.

The action was taken philosophically by sportsmen and vacationists, who admitted the wisdom of the move and expressed realization that all should co-operate in protection of the forests and watersheds.

The supervisors adopted the resolution when J. E. Pleasants, county bee inspector and veteran ranchman, called attention to the risk involved with the approach of the hunting seasons.

Defer Rum Trial As Accused Ill

The scheduled trial of William Gerald, alias Fred Wilson, on a charge of possession of liquor, with two alleged prior convictions, was indefinitely postponed today in department 3 of the superior court, when Gerald was found to be ill in the county hospital.

Announcement was made that Gerald was in a serious condition, although the nature of his ailment was not stated. Judge F. C. Drumm accordingly dismissed the jury panel that had gathered for the trial, and continued the trial of the case.

Linking of two prior convictions with the possession charge raised it from a misdemeanor to a felony, the authorities said. Gerald was said to have been convicted of a similar offense at Artesia last December 21, and again in Los Angeles March 4. He was arrested on the present charge at Anaheim June 3.

Autoist Is Fined $15 For Speeding

In City Recorder W. F. Heathman's court Ed Walton was fined $15 for motoring thirty-two miles an hour at Fourth and Shelton streets, Jefferson Hosea was assessed $5 for passing another automobile at a street intersection, and Mrs. A. A. Rolleston and Sam M. Karns paid $2 each for parking in the restricted district.

Wisconsin's death toll in the series of wind, rain and electrical storms which have been sweeping the state since Sunday night rose to eight today as three additional deaths were reported.

CITY BOYCOTTS RIVAL AFTER 'SIGN' WAR

With Anaheim and Long Beach apparently reaping the benefit, a boycott war today was said to be existing between the residents of Hawaiian Gardens and Artesia, just across the Orange county line, near Lincoln avenue and the Los Alamitos road.

Hawaiian Gardens, which, according to Roland B. Ingram, has a population of several hundred persons, has declared its absolute independence of Artesia and many of the Garden residents have declined to trade at Artesia until proper recognition is accorded their town. Ingram is the brother of G. T. Ingram of Anaheim.

A sign posted at the Wide Awake service station directing motorists to Artesia, Ingram said, caused the trouble. George Bowser, proprietor of the service station, was said to have allowed the Artesians to post a bank sign at his place of business, but objected when advertisements for Artesia real estate men bloomed where none had bloomed before.

Then somebody put a coat of whitewash over the "Artesia" in a sign "Hawaiian Gardens, Artesia" and the situation, according to Ingram, took on added heat.

When Artesia real estate signs were torn down, Bowser was notified, according to Ingram, that several of the former's Artesia gasoline customers would cease to patronize his place. Bowser then replied that 200 or 300 persons in Hawaiian Gardens would then quit purchasing building materials in Artesia.

Ingram says Hawaiian Gardens is fast becoming a real community. The foundation for a $17,000 school, to be known as the Bloomfield school, has been laid, he said. A temporary Sunday school with an initial enrollment of fifty scholars last Sunday, has been instituted.

Incorporation will take place soon if the growth continues as at present, according to the brother of the Anaheim man.

Were the Men's Community Bible class to endorse any candidate for public office, it would be contrary to the constitution and by-laws of the class except in cases where moral issues were directly involved, the organization decided at its weekly meeting held last night at the First Christian church here. This motion was passed: "The Men's Community Bible class goes on record as not endorsing nor recommending any candidate for public office."

DEED WRANGLE AGAIN TAKEN TO COURT

Supplementing previous court action with reference to the same controversy, R. C. O'Bryan, Los Angeles realty salesman was plaintiff today in two superior court suits brought here against his former employer, W. E. Moyer, realty broker; C. P. Moyer and W. E. Moyer and company; also against W. E. Moyer, R. D. Allison and W. B. McKesson. The suits seek to block W. E. Moyer's alleged purpose of deeding away property in Silverado canyon, to which O'Bryan claims part ownership.

O'Bryan first brought the dispute into court when he filed suit against Moyer, charging the latter with fraudulently attempting to deprive O'Bryan of his rights in the property, which consists, he claims, of three tracts of land in the canyon.

The two suits on file today cover virtually the same ground. In one action, filed against the two Moyers and the Moyer company, O'Bryan asks the court to prevent the recording of an asserted grant deed, transferring the properties from W. E. Moyer to W. E. Moyer and company. On the other suit, filed against W. E. Moyer, Allison and McKesson, O'Bryan seeks a court order cancelling two alleged trust deeds given by Moyer to Allison, and also a restraining order to prevent the defendants from disposing of the deeds.

According to O'Bryan, the trust deeds were executed ostensibly in consideration of $15,507.79 for one deed and $5000 for the other, whereas, O'Bryan declared, no money ever passed from Allison to Moyer in the transaction.

Attorney Hal R. Clark, Los Angeles, represents O'Bryan.

People Asked to Report Prowlers

Officers were summoned last night to the home of Mrs. S. Cesneros of 1147 West Hickey street where two men had broken the rear screen door of the house. At 1:30 a. m. today the police received a call to 419 West Walnut street where it was said a man had been peering into bedroom windows. The officers found no trace of the "Peeping Tom."

City Marshal L. C. Rogers urged citizens here to notify promptly the police department whenever a suspicious character is noticed.

ABANDON S. A. FIFTH CONCERT
STAGE LINE OF BAND BEST ATTENDED

Patronage did not justify operation of a stage service between Santa Ana and Anaheim, F. H. Howell, assistant general manager of the Motor Transit company, today announced in Los Angeles, in calling attention to abandonment by the company of the stage line operated between the two cities.

E. E. Wilson, manager here for the Crown Stage, announced that his company on August 15 would move its station from 515 North Main street to the present location of the Motor Transit station on the northwest corner of Bush and Fifth streets.

According to Wilson, stages of the Motor Transit line operating through the city to and from San Diego would pass through the new station of the Crown Stage.

The Pickwick Stage line, on the same date, will establish its station in the room at the southwest corner of Bush and Fifth streets. The Pickwick is now operating through the present station of the Crown stage.

Howell pointed out that the railroad commission, some months ago, ruled that the Motor Transit company had no operative right for carrying passengers between Santa Ana and Los Angeles. By the decision the terminus of the Los Angeles line of the company was established for Anaheim, the local service between Santa Ana and Anaheim being maintained as a feeder from here to the line from Anaheim to Los Angeles.

G. A. R. Veterans
Leave For Boston

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Southern California members of the Grand Army of the Republic left today for Boston, where the national encampment is to be held. With members of auxiliaries, the party numbered nearly 300. The train reaches Boston Sunday.

Public Stenographic Shop, No. 413 No. Main St. Ph. 618-J.

Though declining to estimate the number, Harry Hanson, manager of the Santa Ana Municipal band, said today that the attendance last night at the fifth open air concert at Birch park given by the band was larger than at any of the previous concerts.

"Standing room in the park virtually was at a premium," said the manager. "A friend told me this morning that he was unable to find parking space for his automobile anywhere between Fourth and First streets and Ross and Sycamore streets."

According to reports, "Humoresque" (Anton Dvorak) and "The Bohemian Girl" (Balle) were the most popular numbers played by the band, both being greeted with prolonged applause.

Maurice Phillips, baritone soloist, was greeted with a round of cheers when he stepped to the front of the platform to offer his vocal number, "The Radiance in Your Eyes" (Novello).

Mrs. Raymond Mayer, soprano; Will Gallienne, tenor, and Phillips sang, "When a Peer Makes Love To a Damsel Fair," from De Koven's comic opera, "Robin Hood."

This number was a "knockout," as Hanson expressed it.

GROVE OPENS BIDS
FOR 6-CITY SEWER

Garden Grove will soon have connections with the joint outfall sewer, it was learned here today when bids received for the construction of the main outfall were opened.

L. D. Folsom was the lowest bidder, his estimate being $15,802.54 for constructing the outfall from Garden Grove to connect with the joint outfall sewer at a point 1800 feet south of Santa Ana's West Seventeenth street, on Verano street.

Awarding of the contract will be deferred until August 12.

Thieves Jack Up
Auto, Take Tires

Santa Ana thieves are becoming more daring than sword swallowers. City Marshal L. C. Rogers today said that an automobile parked on Third street between Spurgeon and French streets last night had been jacked up and all of the tires had been removed. This theft was committed while the owner of the car, B. Webber of 1045 East Fourth street, was at a nearby theater.

A similar theft was made in West Orange, according to a report at the sheriff's office today. The garage of Mrs. A. Young was entered during the early evening and two cord tires were removed from the rear wheels of her coupe. A laprobe also was stolen from the automobile.

PIPE TIED TO HIM

LE ROY, N. Y., Aug. 6.—James hardly dares to be seen in public without a pipe in his mouth since the widespread publication of a photograph showing him smoking one at Chequers. The pipe has become a part of his makeup, caricaturists have fastened it upon him, and advertisers are asking of pipe tobacco in the newspaper to recommend various brands.

Latest Art Exhibit Highly Praised at Reception

Living within close driving distance of "Our Village," all Santa Ana patrons of art are taking advantage of their convenient location near that distinguished colony to see the present exhibition in the gallery there. The versed in recent exhibits declare it to be the finest collection of modern art ever exhibited in California.

At the reception on Saturday night more than 300 persons were present and it seemed to be the general opinion that the art association had outdone itself in the selection of pictures.

The standard is exceptionally high and every bit of available wall space is occupied. The exhibit will remain in the gallery during August and September and it is estimated that it will be viewed by thousands of travelers and visitors during that time. It is indeed an exhibit worth seeing, and one that when seen will long be remembered.

William Wendt, sometimes termed the "Dean of California Artists," has entered an unusually interesting painting, "Tawny Hills."
Art lovers who attend the exhibit of the art association will be happy

Intimate Circle Enjoys Nisson Hospitality

Charmingly planned was the afternoon party held yesterday at the North Main street home of Mrs. Mathias Nisson, where old neighbors met to play their needles.
These women have been close associates since the strenuous Red Cross days during the war, when they took the name of The West End Thimble club. Although some of the number are no longer residents of the neighborhood that knew the club's beginning, it is still their delightful custom to gather at the tea hour for a chat over their work.

Miss Mamie Breslin of San Francisco, a house guest at the recent wedding of the former Miss Estelle Nisson, assisted the hostess. The tea menu was served by Mmes. George Slocum, Nellie Young and Clifford Greenleaf and some twenty-seven guests enjoyed the Nisson hospitality.

European Travelers Now In France

Writing to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Madden, from Ostend, Europe's most celebrated watering place, Miss Mildred Murphy, who is enjoying a European tour with the Christopher party of Los Angeles, gives most interesting descriptions of the many points of interest visited by them while abroad.

The famous battlefields of France were among the while in the Argonne, Miss Murphy, registering from Santa Ana, Calif., had the peculiar experience of seeing another Santa Ana signature, that of Anton Borchard, who had visited there the previous day.

The Christopher party planned to go from Ostend to Biarritz and thence into Spain.

Bride of the Month Surprised With Shower
Miss Evelyn Brown, whose marriage to Mr. Arthur Bristowe is to take place August 11, was pleasantly surprised by a group of friends at her home, 1042 West Pine street last week.

An unusually lovely array of pretty and useful gifts for the bride's new home were presented by her friends. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

Many Pretty Showers In Honor of Bride

The nuptial ceremony that united Mr. John Rohrs and Miss Vera Belle Dugger was performed yesterday morning at 10 a. m. with the Rev. G. A. Stierle officiating.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rohrs, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Pink roses and late summer flowers formed the fragrant bower where the ceremony was read.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon, and her veil of white tulle was fastened with orange blossom sprays. She carried a shower bou-quet of pale rosebuds and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Mrs. George Rohrs, while George Rohrs assisted his brother as best man.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony.
Several pretty showers given during the past week were in honor of Miss Dugger. One of the most delightful was that at the home of the sister-in-law of the bridegroom. It was sponsored by Mmes. Charles R. Meier, George
Rohrs, Fred Rohrs and Henry Rohrs.

The early afternoon was spent at a guessing contest and attempts to transcribe bits of advice to the bride into poetry. Some of these proved very amusing, and added a merry note to the party. Then each guest wrote a recipe for the bride-to-be.

When the miscellaneous gifts for the bride-elect had been assembled in a huge clothes basket, provided for the purpose, they were borne in state and placed before the honor guest. The climax of the afternoon was reached when she opened the dainty packages.
Mrs. Roy Miller favored with two piano solos and played the accompaniments to Miss Frances Rohr's vocal selections. After this pleasant entertainment delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Rohrs are on a wedding tour to Catalina, and on their return will make their home on Mr. Rohrs's ranch near Oreange.

Hostess at Delightful Birthday Dinner

A delightfully small dinner was that given at the home of Miss Golda Cook at 709 Lacy street when seven guests surprised Kenneth McCubbin. The affair was to celebrate Mr. McCubbin's birthday anniversary, but he was entirely unaware of the fact that the dinner was in his honor until the desert course, when he was obliged to cut a huge birthday cake with lighted candles surmounting its white frosting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lee and their son, Vernon, Kenneth McCubbin and Miss Golda Cook enjoyed the refreshing dinner.

The evening was spent with games that the hostess, Miss Cook, had planned.

Daughters of Veterans

Some two hundred members of the Daughters of Veterans will gather in Birch Park Monday to celebrate the birthday anniversary of the organization. The local chapter has extended an invitation to the Los Angeles, Fullerton, and Long Beach tents, and many friends from these three cities will gather for the picnic.

A pot-luck dinner will be served at 12:30 and each member of the local tent is requested to bring sandwiches, cups and table silver for two guests. Following the dinner, the afternoon will be devoted to the reunion and a social time with the visiting guests.

ROOSTER KILLS CAT
KINGSTON, N. C., Aug. 6.— Heated warfare between a cat and a rooster at the home of Jack Howard here ended in the death of the cat recently. Howard separated the fighters and went into the house to get first-aid materials for the cat. When he returned, he found that the rooster had renewed the hostilities and killed the cat.

BIG PEACH CROP
Quality of the fruit on the peach trees in Georgia is best since 1918.
The state expects to harvest this year the largest crop it has ever produced.

POTATO RIVAL
The south, where potatoes cannot be grown with success, is trying out a substitute, the dasheen. The dasheen is a fall root crop known for centuries in the Orient and imported from Porto Rico in 1905.
They are much like the potato.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—A recent competition for new roses held at Bagatelle, the beautiful rose garden belonging to the city of Paris and situated in the Bois de Boulogne, has drawn attention to the fact that the garden possesses 14,000 varieties of this flower.

Distinctive Use of Black and White

Here is an excellent example of how effectively bordered silk may be used. The printed design in black on the white gown affords all the trimming necessary, save the straps that break the plainness of the front. In buying a bordered material it is well to select one such as this with a design that may be cut for handings and trimmings if necessary, as it allows greater latitude in the choice of a style.
The sleeves are most attractive and are decidedly different from the average run.

A Daily Menu

LUNCHEON—Ham mousse, lettuce sandwiches, chilled berries with powdered sugar, drop cookies, iced tea.

Ham Mousse
Two cups finely chopped cold boiled ham, 1-2 cup white stock, 1-2 teaspoon granulated gelatin, 1-2 cup whipping cream.

Chop and pound the ham until smooth. Season well with mustard and paprika. Soften gelatin in cold water. Bring stock to the boiling point and stir in gelatin. Add to ham and mix well. When cold fold in the cream whipped until stiff.
Turn into a mold and set on ice to chill and become firm. Scraps of ham picked from the bone and the ends are delicious used up this way. A knuckle of veal well cracked should be boiled with celery and onion and the usual "bouquet garni" for the stock. If veal or chicken stock, if you live on a farm, is kept on hand in the summer time, many delicious and out-of the ordinary dishes can be made with little effort.

Drop Cookies
Two tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons milk, 1 cup finely chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and stir in sugar.
Add eggs well beaten. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and stir into first mixture. Mix thoroughly. Stir in milk and vanilla.
Add nuts. Drop from teaspoon onto oiled and floured cookie sheet and bake fifteen to twenty minutes in a slow oven.

Drop cookies are especially nice in hot weather as they take much less time to make than the rolled and cut ones.

DINNER—Fricassee of lamb, new potatoes with minced parsley, limbians in cream, cucumber and watercress salad, toasted wafers, halves of cantaloupe filled with mixed fruit, half cups of coffee.

Lamb Fricassee
Three pounds shoulder of lamb, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 teaspoons salt, 1 small onion, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups lamb stock.
In the morning trim and cut the lamb in pieces convenient for serving. Put in kettle with onion and 6 cups of water and simmer until tender. Remove from liquor and cool. Cool stock and remove fat.
Season meat with salt and pepper when about half done. Melt butter and saute meat until a pale straw color. Sift over flour and mix well, being sure every bit of the flour is absorbed by the butter and meat.
Strain over 2 cups of lamb stock and cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Serve on a platter and garnish with tiny points of toast.

It won't take more than fifteen minutes to prepare this dish at dinner time. New potatoes should cook in half an hour and lima beans in the same time. Half an hour of work will get this dinner.

Relief Corps

The Woman's Relief Corps will give a benefit social in G. A. R. hall Friday, and it is expected that a very large attendance will enjoy the pleasure hour and program that the chapter has arranged.

The social is in anticipation of the bean supper to be held at the Palisades at Santa Monica, Cal., during the Southern California
Veterans' association convention.
The proceeds from the benefit will be devoted to the dinner for the convention delegates. The regular monthly meeting of the Corps will precede the social.

Forest Home Colonists Enjoy Many Summer Parties.

The colony of local residents at Forest Home has had some interesting additions during the past few weeks, and several losses when popular dwellers at the mountain resort terminated their summer vacations.

Mrs. Ralph Barker and friends from Kansas City drove up for a few days to visit with Mrs. Charles Chapman, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barker and their little daughter were guests at the same cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Hill of Hemet, formerly of Santa Ana, are planning to occupy their beautiful little summer home at the resort for an indefinite time.

On the afternoon of July 31, Miss Cloyes entertained a group of Santa Ana women in honor of her mother's birthday anniversary. The affair celebrator Mrs. M. S. Cloyes' seventy-second year, and the ladies presented her with a lovely picture, a mountain scene framed in cedar bark. The twelve matrons present passed an enjoyable afternoon with their needle work.

The husbands of these matrons were unable to resist temptation to attend the tea hour, and were happy partakers of the refreshments served with Mrs. Cloyes' birthday cake.

Mesdames W. D. Barker, E. L.
Goodwin, W. S. Decker, H. Trueblood, Charles Chapman, Charles Crose, Fred Rowland, J. E. Paul, D.
W. Sturgeon, J. S. Runyan and their husbands were members of the party.

Return From Portland Motor Trip

A very pleasant northern trip was taken this month by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Barger who have been with friends in Portland. Leaving Santa Ana five weeks ago, they motored to the Oregon city via the beautiful coast drive.

After a ten days' visit, Mr.
Barger returned to his business duties, but his wife remained with her friends. She has recently returned by rail with a pleasure stop at Palo Alto where other hospitable friends were waiting to receive her.

Mrs. Barger has resumed her pleasant work. She plans to devote two days a week to her pupils, and the remainder at Cedar Pines Park where she and Mr. Barger maintain a summer home.

Society Editor Off On Vacation Trip

Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, society editor of The Register, was in Los Angeles today, enjoying the current plays, as part of her vacation program. She is being entertained by friends, who have planned the theater parties in her honor.

After a few days of playgoing in the Angel city, Mrs. Elliott will divide her time between the mountains and the seashore, and again will be with Santa Ana friends when she and her son, Frederick, spend the latter part of next week at Forest Home.

Cross Continent Tour Now Enjoyed by Local Business Man

Many are the delightful trips now being enjoyed by vacationing Santa Anans, but few can compare with the extensive journey by sea and water that Arch W. Craig has planned. During the next five weeks, this now ardent traveler will encompass the country.

Leaving southern California by Santa Fe, he will make Houston his first destination, and will spend a few days with friends there.
From there the journey by rail will be resumed and at New Orleans will continue by water to New York City. On the east coast some time will be spent in Washington, D. C. and in Philadelphia on the return trip.

In Chicago Mr. Craig plans to board the scenic Canadian Pacific railway which carries its passengers through the most beautiful sections of the Canadian northwest.

The final stretch of the extensive pleasure journey will be made from Vancouver.

BIG FIGHT BETWEEN SHARKS, WHALE TOLD

An interesting tale of a fight to the death between a thirty-five foot whale and four Thresher sharks, off the coast of California, between San Francisco and Los Angeles, in which the sea was made bloody for many yards, and which finally ended in the death of the whale, is told by J. L. Lockhart, 618 West Second street, on his return here yesterday from a trip to Oregon, where he has been for the past two months.

Lockhart, who returned from Seattle on the steamer Admiral Fiske, stated that the steamer was stopped near the fight and that passengers watched the battle for the better part of an hour.

In describing his trip to Oregon, Lockhart stated that he saw some beautiful stretches of country,
"but I wouldn't give one acre of Orange county for all of Oregon, and I told them so, too." Lockhart has been visiting friends and relatives in the northern state.

The NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sally Morgan has to go 35 miles from her father's ranch to catch a train for the East. Sheriff Bob Wells, her fiancé, is unable to ride with her to the station. So the "Nervous Wreck" an eccentric young easterner, is visiting at the ranch, offers to take her to the station in his little automobile.

The sheriff ridicules the suggestion, but Sally and the Wreck set out anyhow over the rough, narrow trail. The car is stuck in the middle of a stream, and next day the wreck is seen in the twin lights of an approaching car. The Wreck takes a six-shooter out of his machine and waits.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Don't leave this car," he commanded. "I'm going to attend to whatever has to be done. Nobody's going to get hurt. But I'm going to find out something, hastening up the road toward the staring headlights."

CHAPTER V

The Nervous Gunman

It was a big black machine, long and squat and heavy, with luggage on the running-boards, luggage on the rear, three spares, and four occupants, one of them a chauffeur in uniform. The Wreck ignored the chauffeur, although he kept a furtive eye on him. He stepped close to the side of the tonneau and addressed himself to one of the three persons who sat there.

"I'm asking you again for a few gallons of gas," he said. "I've got to have it; that's all. You can spare me some without any trouble."

"And I'm still telling you to go to the devil," answered a heavy voice from the central figure. "We haven't got any gas, spare. And you'd better get busy and roll that flivver out of the road and let me get by. If you need any help, my driver is here."

"I don't want that kind of help," said the Wreck, still controlling his voice. "I want gas."

The heavy voice laughed.

"We're not running a tank wagon."

"We people with flivvers," declared the Wreck, slowly, "are not gas hogs. If I had as much gas as you've got in your tank I could run from here to New York. You're what I call a damned hog. All I'm asking is five gallons and I'll pay for it. Do I get it?"

"You do not."

There was an abrupt change in the Wreck's demeanor. He stepped back a pace, pulled his cap close over his eyes and brought to view an object he had been concealing behind his back. Even in the gloom it was possible to get an idea of what it was.

"Stick 'em up!" he barked. "All hands. Be in a hurry now."

There was a feminine shriek from the tonneau, and the Wreck then and there first learned that one of them was a woman. But it was no time for courtesies.

"All up—everybody! You there, in the front seat! That's the idea. I want to see eight hands up all the time. And I don't want to see any funny movements, either."

He had to take it for granted that eight hands were up; he could not count them very clearly in the dark, particularly as his eyesight was none too keen. But that, of course, was something they did not know.

"Listen hard, now," he said, briskly. "When I tell you to do something, do it quick and don't give me any back talk. I want everybody out of that car, on this side of the road. And I'll open those doors. It'll be awful good for your health if you hear in mind that I'm nervous. I'm apt to get excited. Everybody out, now; one at a time. Line up!"

The driver came first, his arms stiffly aloft. Then three figures in single file from the tonneau, the last one wearing skirts. The person with the heavy voice coughed nervously.

"We'll give you five—"

"Shut up!" commanded the Wreck. "You'll give me anything I want. You three—He indicated the passengers with a wave of the gun. "You three step out in front of those lights where I can keep a good eye on you. That's business. Stay there. Now, driver, got a can?"

"Ah—ah—yes, sir."

"Get it—and be careful you don't get anything else."

The man in uniform moved cautiously to the side of the car and unstrapped a five-gallon container from the running board.

"It's full, sir," he said.

"Pull, eh? Carrying extra gas and wouldn't give me a drop, eh? All right, you pick up that can and march—straight up the middle of the road."

For a few seconds it puzzled the wreck what to do with the trio who still stood with their hands up in the glare of lights. He solved it by ordering them to a point midway between the two cars, where he made them sit down and told them not to budge.

"My partner up here in the flivver," he explained, "is looking at you over a pair of sights. He's a pretty good shot. He's nervous, too."

The man with the five-gallon can walked ahead until the Wreck halted him within half a dozen paces of the stalled car. The Wreck stepped ahead to speak to Sally. He found that she had dismounted and was standing by the roadside, beyond the beam of light.

"You crazy—"

He placed a hand roughly across her lips.

"Shut up!" he whispered. "Stay where you are and say nothing. I'm running this."

Sally was boiling, but she obeyed. It seemed the only way to keep him from some other wild folly.

The Wreck called to the man with the can, and as he reached the flivver, told him he would find a funnel on the floor.

"Pour that stuff into the tank and see to it that you don't spill any of it."

It gave him a small thrill of satisfaction to find himself smartly obeyed. Then he marched the chauffeur ahead of him, back to the big car. As he passed the group in the road he tossed them a cheerful word of caution.

"My partner," he said, "noticed one of you didn't keep his hands in plain sight. He says he wouldn't like to have it happen again. The Wreck and the driver went directly to the rear of the gas-eating monster."

"How much in that tank?" demanded the Wreck.

"About fifteen, sir."

"Pet-cock in the bottom? You'd better have, if you don't want me to shoot a hole in the tank."

"Y-ess, sir. We got a pet-cock."

"Stick that can under it and let her go."

Presently the driver announced that the can was full, and the Wreck verified the statement.

"All right. Dump it out in the road."

The driver stared through the darkness.

"Dump it out!" And the Wreck executed the order himself by kicking the can over.

"Now fill it again," he commanded.

The second filling was accomplished.

"That'll do. That leaves you five gallons. It's too much for a flivver."

"I don't want that kind of help," said the Wreck, still controlling his voice. "I want gas."

The heavy voice laughed.

WONDERFUL PAGEANT IS CLIMAX OF BIG KEITH GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

More Than Five Thousand Enjoy Marvelous Scenes of Beauty.

Golden Jubilee, day of days, with the golden sun in the heavens and the golden glow of the joy and camaraderie of the affair reaching to the hearts of 5500, Geo. E. Keith Co. associates Tuesday, at the Walk-Over Club from 2 p. m. until midnight, held a stupendous array of momentous events, crowded closely one upon the other in the gala observance of the 50th anniversary of the company's organization.

Forming by factory units, associates of the company, 5500 strong, from Campello, Middleboro, East Weymouth and Rochester, N. Y., as well as a unit of 500 Walk-Over dealers, the mammoth parade which marked the opening of the festivities encircled the Campello plant and the grounds of the club, a kaleidoscope of color.

Units were designated by color, the men wearing carnival caps and the women carrying parasols. The parade was reviewed by officials and veterans of the company as it passed the knoll near the west entrance to the grounds. Marchers were provided with confetti and serpentine streamers which were used in providing a spectacle of riotous color. The streets were lined with hundreds of spectators.

Mayor Opens Affair.

Formalities attendant upon the opening of festivities included a speech by His Honor Mayor William A. Bullivant, presentation of the Geo. E. Keith Memorial bandstand to the Walk-Over club by President Irving B. Howe for the Dealers' association, the anniversary address by President Harold C. Keith of the company and the presentation of medals to the 164 veterans who have served for periods of 25 years and more.

The big golden jubilee pageant, written for the occasion by Suzanne Cary Gruver, was admirably presented in the evening by 300 Walk-Over associates.

A selection by Martland's band opened the anniversary program at 8 p. m. and the memorial hymn, written by Ernest A. Burrill, was sung by the entire gathering. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Robert Wood Coe, pastor of the South Congregational church. Vice-president Myron L. Keith presided.

Mayor Speaks First

Mayor Bullivant was the first speaker of the afternoon and his remarks in part were:

It is a pleasant duty which is mine today as mayor of Brockton, to give a few words of welcome to the retailers of the Walk-Over products who have gathered here from near and far to assist in the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of this great industry by the late George E. Keith. The 50th anniversary of a successful industry is an achievement for the community of which it is a part and Brockton views with pride this wonderful shoe manufacturing establishment of the Geo. E. Keith Co., and as mayor I not only extend to you retailers a generous and cordial welcome to the city in behalf of our citizens, but I am glad too, to bring congratulations, good wishes and the greetings of the people of Brockton to the Geo. E. Keith Co. upon this special occasion.

The Geo. E. Keith Co. has written in its 50 years of industrial enterprise a continuing story of growth and increasing fame for the quality of its product, the Walk-Over shoe. Its product has carried the prestige of this great establishment and of the Brockton shoe quality into the farthest markets of civilization and proclaimed Brockton as a shoe city in the homes of mankind in the far corners of the earth.

Glancing about, you see the evidences of the magnitude of the Walk-Over shoe industry. This great plant and the park and other accessories for the enjoyment of the Walk-Over Associates, tell you of the vast importance to Brockton of the Geo. E. Keith Co., as an institution as well as an industry. The Geo. E. Keith Co. has grown until today it stands in the front rank of footwear producing concerns in the world, in the quality of its product, in its volume of business, in the civic interest of the men who direct its affairs and in the character and high quality of the citizenship of the great army of workers employed. Brockton cannot over estimate the importance of this great enterprise to the city.

I look back with pride on the privilege I enjoyed in having known the founder of this great business. He was American through and through. His democracy was an every day, everywhere, anytime characteristic. He was intensely human in his relations with his associates in business, in church life and with all his fellow citizens. He interested himself in Brockton and the welfare of its rising generation. This industry, his provision for church and welfare work, his public service in local government and as park commissioner and his magnanimous gift to the city of the Eldon Keith field, a memorial to his eldest son, are only incidents in the long story of the good that Mr. Keith did in his community.

The story that strikes most on this week on the occasion of this golden jubilee is that this enterprise has unfalteringly proven an essential, earnest and vigorous builder of progress for the city of which it is a part. No community can prosper that does not recognize the value of industries within its gates. Those who are rated as employees prosper only as the employing industry prospers, and the community benefits only to the extent that the industry progresses in the healthy atmosphere of cordial relations and friendly interest between the employer and employed. These things are to be found in the democracy that permeates this great business and in the daily life of the which direct its affairs.

Brockton salutes the Geo. E. Keith company on this golden anniversary, and trusts that the future may have in store even a more glorious record of achievement.

Presentation of the memorial bandstand followed. President Irving B. Howe of the Dealers' association, in making his presentation remarks said, "It is a great pleasure to me to be here today and to say something of what we Walk-Over dealers feel, being present as we are in a body at this half-century celebration. Naturally our first thought today is of the man who made possible the growth and success of this organization during these 50 years and we want to express our admiration of his practical idealism and to congratulate the present directors of the Geo. E.

Keith Co. for the success of their efforts in carrying out his vision.

"We remember the many years during which the name Geo. E. Keith stood for excellence in shoe-making before the name Walk-Over was added to indicate the marked success his product had attained. Many of us here today remember well the enthusiasm Mr. Keith had in linking the two names together in a broader policy and the immediate realization in growth that followed that proved that the step was a wise one.

"Mr. Keith was a man of broad outlook and great trust in his fellow man. Not only had he great confidence in his fellow workers and associates here in Campello, but also in his retail customers, who were then beginning to encircle the globe. His confidence brought out the best in all with whom he came in contact in a business way and few there were who ever betrayed his trust.

GOD FEARING MAN

"Mr. Keith was a kind, just, God-fearing man, who was never afraid to act when impelled by what he believed to be a right motive. One day when I went into his office in a corner of old No. 1, I found him with his Bible open on his desk. He did not seem to mind my intrusion but simply said he seldom did anything of importance without going to his Bible for guidance.

"So this man of great affairs in business and civil life paused for a moment in prayer that he might be led aright, a lesson to us all. I believe that the influence of his example has continued to be felt throughout the organization he has established. We remember, many of us, the pleasure he expressed in planning this club, the recreation grounds, and those who were here at the dedication in 1914 marvelled at the completeness in every detail of his gift to his employees and the satisfaction that was his on that eventful day, the 40th anniversary of his career in business as a shoe manufacturer.

"Six years later, when Mr. Keith passed on, we, as retailers, shared your great loss. He was to us more than a manufacturer with whom we did business. He was a friend. When our association next assembled in convention it was resolved that we express our love and esteem for Mr. Keith in the form of a memorial here at Campello. A committee was appointed and soon found that this club under the able management of its officers had grown perhaps beyond Mr. Keith's expectations into a community center and had outgrown its bandstand.

"We were glad to know of and happy to supply this need, and it was with Mr. Keith's interest in his employees in line and the desire to carry out his ideals in some practical way that the Walk-Over dealers have caused this structure to be erected on these beautiful grounds and presented as a gift to the Walk-Over club in memory of the man it has been our privilege to know. And so today with love and appreciation of him we unveil this simple tablet of bronze inscribed with the words:

Walk-Over Dealers
Throughout the World
Dedicate This Memorial To Their Friend,
George E. Keith,
1924.

GIFT ACCEPTED

President Norman A. Chandler of the Walk-Over club, in accepting the bandstand in behalf of his fellow members, said:

"This wonderful bandstand is indeed an ideal gift and is appreciated in no small measure by members of the club. Many perhaps do not realize that from 1000 to 5000 persons come every week to band concerts in this park and the addition of this modern stand has provided increased pleasure for many hundreds of people.

"The Walk-Over dealers could have provided nothing more desired or better qualified to commemorate the man in whose honor it is given. Our appreciation of the gift is truly a deep and lasting one."

MELILOTUS SEED

TODAY we unloaded a large car of unusually fine Melilotus Indica seed. This seed is re-scarified; and is of the same high quality in purity and germination as we have always handled in the past. In fact the purity is over 99 per cent and the germination is over 90. So it conforms to our rigid rule of quality for seven years — "Ninety-nine—ninety or better."

The price, this year, is $5.50 per hundred pounds—a little higher in smaller lots. This remarkably low price on the highest possible quality of Melilotus Indica is the cheapest price we have ever had on this quality seed. This low price makes it possible for you to covercrop this year at a seed cost of but—

$1.10 PER ACRE

—or $11.00 for a ten acre ranch. Melilotus is the surest growing covercrop known in California. It isn't bothered by aphids—it makes a wonderful growth—it is extremely cheap.

TALBERT LEAVES ON SENATE CAMPAIGN TOUR WITH WORD HIS PLEDGES DISTRICT-WIDE

Declaring that he has made no pledges of any sort that will interfere with representing the entire senatorial district, Supervisor T. B. Talbert of Huntington Beach, left today on a tour of Riverside and Imperial counties in furtherance of his campaign for the Republican nomination for state senator.

"I do pledge myself to work for the interests of this district and to work for the interests of the counties of Riverside, Imperial and Orange, which comprise this district," Talbert said. "I have lived in Orange county since I was a boy, and I feel that I know what this district needs. Through the co-operative work that has been carried on in water conservation, I know that in the next few years a great deal can be done and must be done toward the development of water conservation along the Santa Ana river. There is no reason why the state should not contribute much more money each year to this work than it has ever done, and if I am elected state senator I shall throw my shoulder to the wheel in an effort to get a big, worth-while appropriation for water conservation. I consider water conservation and water development deserving of a legislator's closest attention and greatest effort."

Talbert has declared himself in favor of economy, but says that he will not favor measures that are poor economy. "Efficiency is necessary," he said, "else the state government will fall to do its duty by the people of the state. I believe that a legislator should use his head and his time in endeavoring to get efficient state government at the least possible cost."

CANDIDATE

Talbert reiterated his declaration to the effect that he has made no pledges to any group or any person that will prevent him from using his own powers of investigation and his own experience as a public official to reach his own conclusions concerning any proposed legislation.

Talbert has many warm friends throughout Riverside and Imperial counties, and from them he has received assurances of support. In Orange county, where Talbert has lived for many years, the candidate is known to citizens all over the county.

Friends of Talbert point out the fact that the withdrawal of S. C. Evans of Riverside from the race for state senator before Talbert entered it is an admission on the part of Riverside men that conditions have changed to such an extent that the custom of alternating state senatorships between the two counties could no longer prevail. Moreover, they pointed out that when the old agreement was entered into Riverside and Orange counties alone made up the district. Since then Imperial county was put into the district.

"In fairness to Imperial county," they said, "the old agreement had to be broken, else Imperial county never would have a chance to run a candidate for state senator."

That Talbert will make friends wherever he goes in Riverside and Imperial counties is a foregone conclusion, it was declared here, for the reason that Talbert is a man who makes friends with ease and holds them after he has made them.

ABANDONED CAR DISCOVERED IN GROVE

ORANGE, Aug. 6.—The discovery of an abandoned automobile in an orange grove, near here, the finding of important clues in at least two places that were victimized and the further report that two additional dwellings were entered—these today were the new developments in the whirlwind petty crime wave that swept the Orange district over the weekend.

The automobile, with lights burning, was discovered this morning by R. C. Burkett in his orange grove on East Chapman avenue, near the bridge. Burkett at once notified local police.

City Marshal M. E. Jemison, who responded, removed the machine to a local garage. An examination disclosed that the car was in good running condition, but the key had been removed.

Footprints in the soft plowed orchard indicated that a man and woman had abandoned the machine, which was about fifty yards from the boulevard. The footprints led to the highway, where it is believed the couple boarded another machine.

The car is registered to Ray S. Smith, Compton, and local authorities were preparing to check up on the case to determine whether the machine had been stolen. The authorities asserted the belief that the pair abandoned the car hurriedly, as the headlights were burning when the machine was discovered at nine o'clock this morning.

What connections, if any, the car might have had with the crime wave authorities have not yet determined, but they were preparing to investigate every possible clue in that direction.

Accompanied by Herman Zabel, county fingerprint expert, Motor Officer George Peterkin today visited the various dwellings victimized by the "cash burglar" in a hunt for clues. It was declared that excellent print impressions were procured at two places.

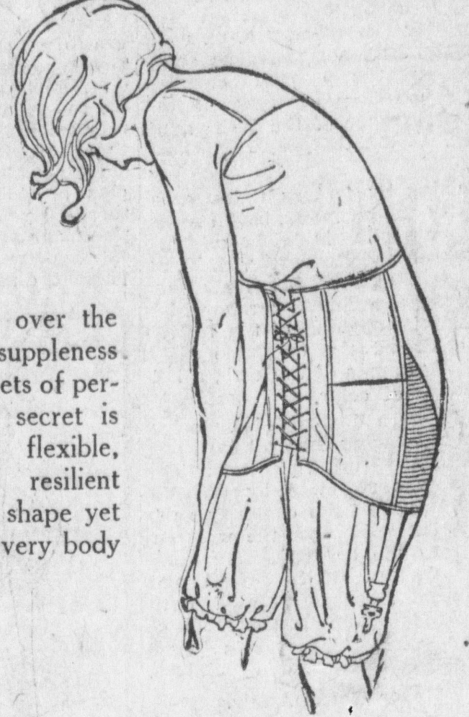

Two additional burglaries, transpiring over the weekend, were reported to police today. They include the F. V. Jamison home on North Batavia street and the C. C. Bonebrake residence. In both places, articles were strewn about the floors, but nothing was carried away. The burglar, in every instance, appeared to be on a hunt for cash.

SOUTHERN FOLK BUYING SMALL ORANGES AT GOOD PRICE

Yorba Linda Plant Finds Shutdown For Short Period Advisable

PACK WINS PRAISE

Liverpool Inspector Says
Local Shipment Best Received There

Demand for oranges is much stronger in the Southern states than in the northern part of the United States, according to officials of Foothill Groves, Inc., at Yorba Linda.

Higher prices are paid by orange distributors in the Southern states for the smaller grades, it was explained, while the North is buying only large sizes, it was explained. The Poppy, Sunflower or Yorba Linda brands are shipped north and to Liverpool from Foothill Groves, while Pansy Boy and other smaller grades are shipped to the South.

The Yorba Linda packing house did not ship any fruit last week and will not this week, it was disclosed, because the market was said to be "shaky." Because the plant is not working regularly, the power shortage was not being felt, according to Foothill Groves officials, who admitted, however, that last month, the plant used its full quota of kilowatt hours.

While many packers claim small oranges are not making expenses, the Yorba Linda packers reported they did "better than break even" as the result of the first of the three pools of the year, when all grades and sizes were marketed in one group.

Those in charge of the Foothill Groves plant are proudly displaying the report signed by the government inspector when their last shipment of oranges was made to Liverpool. The report stated in part:

"This shipment contains the best texture fruit received this season. Grading is all that could be desired—exceptionally good color. The distinctive feature of this pack is uniformity in grade and the appearance by Poppy wraps."

NEW YORK ORANGE MART CONTINUES FIRM

The New York market, for Orange county oranges, continues to remain firm, and the future holds even better prospects for the growers is the weekly report made today by Barney Crawford, manager of the Tustin Hills Citrus association, who stated that smaller oranges are bringing a little better price this week than last week, and that big oranges are holding their own.

"We are very well pleased with conditions at the present time," he stated, "and the future condition of the market looks exceptionally good at this time."

Light Problems To Be Discussed By Farm Center

The monthly meeting of the West Orange farm center will meet Friday night at 8 o'clock at the home of George Schnackenberg, on North Main street, Orange, according to an announcement made from the offices of the farm bureau, today.

Aside from the monthly directors' report, Andrew Stanley, member of the Orange county power conservation committee, will speak on "New Lights on Electricity," going into detail on the power situation in Orange county as compared with other counties in Southern California.

Plans for the walnut growers' field day, to be held here Saturday, will also be discussed, while H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, will report on the citrus institute, held at Pasadena, recently.

WHEAT CROP TO YIELD HEAVY RETURNS

Farmers of Nation Will Get 200 Million Dollars
More Than 1923

It is possible that American wheat growers will get from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 more for their wheat this year than last, assuming that they sell something over 500,000,000 bushels, says the United States department of agriculture in its monthly agricultural review issued today. This is considerably less than the $1,000,000,000 increase estimated in some quarters, but bespeaks an increased ability to pay off debts and a general improvement in financial conditions in the wheat country.

On the other hand, the corn situation is by no means good, the department points out. Stands are extremely spotted, many fields are full of weeds, and much of the crop is so far behind that it will need something approaching a frostless fall to mature. Corn is a feed crop and high prices add mainly to the cost of live stock production.

The main significance of the corn situation lies in its effect on livestock production and prices during the coming year, the department says. Expensive corn this fall will presumably prolong the liquidation of breeding stock now in process. Unless history is a faithful guide, hogs and high-grade cattle will be good property before this time in 1925, it is suggested.

A 6 per cent increase in dairy cows in the country over last year is reported, the increase being greatest in the West. The South is considered to be going through critical days now but cotton bids fair to produce a large and more evenly distributed income than last year.

All in all, the review says, this season promises to give agriculture some increased economic leverage. The index of purchasing power of farm products is slowly rising, moving up to 73 in June (relative to the year 1913 taken as 100) or 19 per cent higher than any other June in four years.

California Fruit Pack Takes Drop

According to present commercial estimates the 1924 canned fruit pack in California will be approximately $5 per case larger as the 1923 pack (11,351,536 cases), a probable slight increase in the amount of apricots canned this year being insufficient to offset a material decline in the pack of other fruits, particularly peaches. The supply of canning peaches was reduced by killing frosts in some of the principal growing regions. Canning operations are now under way in some sections of the state. Both canned and dried fruit markets have been relatively active during recent weeks and both industries are entering the 1924 season with a substantially smaller crop of old crop goods than one year ago.

ORANGE COUNTY PARK WILL BE PICNIC SITE

Farm Bureau Members of Seven Counties Will Hear Program

Plan for a picnic, which would be attended by farm bureau members from all of the seven counties in Southern California, to be held at the Orange county park, at which time more than 5000 members of the farm bureau would hear an address by O. E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, of Chicago, are being made by the Orange county farm bureau.

A meeting of the local farm bureau directors has been called for tomorrow to formally adopt plans for the picnic. To attend a conference of higher farm bureau officials to be held the latter part of the month at Berkeley, Bradfute with several assistants will make a tour through Southern California, the first week in September. Through the efforts of A. M. Stanley, secretary of the local farm bureau, Bradfute has agreed to speak to growers here on September 6, he stating in his communications to Stanley that it would be his only speaking engagement while in California. Bradfute's intentions were to visit in Southern California without speaking anywhere, and he had refused invitations for speaking engagements in Los Angeles and elsewhere in the south.

Approval of a $20,000 paving project in the vicinity of Brea that will link that city with the state highway at a point between Fullerton and La Habra via Cedar street, set official machinery in motion today for carrying out the work.

The board of supervisors, late yesterday approved a petition to form road improvement district No. 32, which calls for the paving of Cedar street, outside of the city of Brea, for a distance of one and a half miles. Bids will be opened, it was stated, within the next several weeks.

Paving plans call for an asphalt concrete boulevard eighteen feet wide and five inches thick.

STATE'S GRAPE CROP SHOWS BIG DROP

The 1924 California grape crop estimates as prepared by experts of the state department of agriculture indicate that the wine and table grape production of the state will be at least 25 per cent of what would be a normal crop for the present bearing acreage, and the raisin grapes 40 per cent short. This estimate is based upon the present condition of the crops and does not take into account factors that may influence the yield from now on, such as drying winds, water failures, unusually severe insect attack, mildew, etc. It is feared that because of the water shortage already existing in many large grape districts, an appreciable part of the crop in sight will be of rather poor quality.

All these facts and figures have a very important bearing upon the probable prices to be paid for grapes this season, and to San Diego county growers this is a vital question. The general feeling seems to be that lower prices will prevail for raisin and table grapes during the early part of the season, with a sharp rise for black and other juice grapes later on.

It should be borne in mind that even with the predicted 25 per cent and 40 per cent below normal crop, the present crop will undoubtedly be larger than that of other years, due, of course, to very large new acreages coming into bearing.

The institution is a model in every respect, equipped with latest machinery. It has paid off all indebtedness with the exception of $1000. It manages to pay off about $1000 a year.

ing into bearing. It is estimated that 80,000 cars will be required to handle the crop this year, as against 52,500 in 1923, 41,500 in 1922 and 30,500 in 1921. Part of this increase in expected carlot shipments is accounted for by the probability that more grapes will be shipped fresh this year and fewer made into raisins. In spite of this, however, the predictions made by experts three or four years ago that the 1924 grape yield, raisin, table and wine, would be practically double that of 1920 and 1921, seem to be verified.

FIELD FETE FOR NUT GROWERS EXPECTED TO LURE 1000 SATURDAY

Santa Ana Program Shows
Men Foremost In Calif.
Industry to Speak

ITINERARY IS TOLD

How Prices May Be Made
Higher to Be One Topic Experts to Discuss

BY H. E. WAHLBERG,
County Farm Advisor

Walnut growers of Southern California assembled at the fourth annual walnut growers' field day, here Saturday, will be told how the California Walnut Growers' association has won for itself the reputation of being one of the most successful co-operative marketing organizations in California. Fully 1000 are expected to attend.

Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the association, will discuss the "Value of Crop Estimates to the Walnut Industry." He will point out, according to advance word, how the Eastern and foreign buyer is dependent to a great extent, on the estimates of walnut crop submitted by the growers at the time or even before the market opens up in the fall.

The price of walnuts can be influenced to the advantage of the producer if a near accurate figure of crop production can be submitted to the eastern buyers. A competitive plan has been devised through the association whereby more accurate estimates of the crop for each year may be secured.

Donald Sias, advertising manager for the association, who has turned out very effective trade advertising during the past few years, will bring to the growers a message of successful merchandising brought about by scientific advertising.

Advantages of Dehydration
Each year sees a larger number of growers adopting artificial dehydration as a substitute for sun drying of walnuts. Several plans have been in operation in Southern California, operating under greater or less efficiency. There still exists considerable room for improvement in artificial dehydration.

Prof. A. W. Christie, division of fruit products, University of California, who is also associated with the Southern California walnut growers in dehydration investigations that his department has undertaken during the past season, and during the afternoon, together with C. V. Newman, manager of the San Joaquin Fruit company, who will discuss the new King dehydrator, which has been installed at the ranch. The King dehydrator is an innovation in walnut drying and represents one of the latest improvements in dehydration equipment. This equipment together with the old dehydration plant previously used by the San Joaquin Fruit company, will be seen side by side during the afternoon's tour.

Committee Reports
Two special committees of the walnut department will submit reports to the growers on schooling migratory labor and improved tree tools. H. W. Lewis, president of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association, will submit a report on the findings of the committee relative to providing proper school facilities for migratory labor, which is a considerable problem in some sections of Southern California. The committee has conferred with the state school superintendent on this matter and will present recommendations on how to meet the problem.

An exhibit of improved tools for the walnut grower has been prepared by another special committee and will be on exhibit during

Karnak, Sensational New Medicine, Now On Sale At Kelley's

HASHAD PHENOMENAL SUCCESS

Karnak, the sensational new health-builder discovered by M. Pierre Andre, noted French chemist, which has been accomplishing such phenomenal results in the larger cities, is now on sale at C. S. Kelley's.

Owing to the enormous demand for Karnak, and the sensational success it has achieved everywhere it has been introduced this enterprising firm has placed with the manufacturers of Karnak the largest order ever given here for a single medicine.

M. PIERRE ANDRE
Discoverer of Karnak

Karnak is a purely vegetable medicine of remarkable purity and wonderful efficacy in the treatment of stomach and digestive troubles, weakness, nervousness, rheumatism caused by gestation, indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, insomnia, loss of appetite, torpid liver, constipation, gasiness, auto-intoxication, dyspepsia, indigestion, malnutrition, a generally weak, run-down condition and a host of other symptoms and complaints not generally recognized as having their origin in stomach, abdominal and digestive derangements. As a general health-builder and strength restorative Karnak has become the sensation of the drug trade everywhere it has been introduced.

The action of Karnak is so natural and beneficial that it has won the name of "the master health-builder." It increases the appetite for wholesome food and helps digestion turn this food into strengthening nourishment which builds up firm flesh and strong muscular tissue; it strengthens the organs of elimination, purifies the blood stream and builds up the whole body in tone, vigor and vitality.

The management at Kelley's was enthusiastic over having won the Karnak agency. "We are simply elated," said Mr. Kelley. "M. Andre's famous preparation is of such wonderful merit and reputation that for me to comment on it would be superfluous. It has met with sensational success everywhere and will be sold by us under the strict guarantee that if the first two bottles do not produce substantial benefits the purchase price will be refunded. This shows the unlimited confidence

Karnak is sold under a strict guarantee that the first two bottles will produce beneficial results or the purchase price will be refunded without question. Both the manufacturers and the local distributors stand behind this guarantee.

This policy was announced by Mr. Rowe St. Clair, of Standard Drug Products, Incorporated.

Substantiated Claims

Mr. St. Clair first expressed his sincere appreciation of the interest and enthusiastic support given his Company by leading citizens here, who were interested in securing Karnak for this city. "This shows," said Mr. St. Clair, "that your citizens are anxious to try M. Andre's new discovery, and it is a privilege to tell the public that the medicine will be sold under a strict guarantee. We want them to know that we always have had and always will substantiate every claim made for Karnak."

"Our guarantee amounts simply to this: 'Anyone who purchases two bottles of Karnak is not benefited by it they may get their money back without question.'"

Has Stood Test

"Karnak is manufactured by one of America's oldest, largest and most reputable pharmaceutical houses, which subjected M. Andre's discovery to the most prolonged and searching scientific tests. These tests proved its restorative power to be little short of astonishing. Then our own company undertook a long series of tests under conditions of actual usage which confirmed in every detail the results announced by the pharmaceutical laboratories. Since then Karnak has achieved phenomenal success in the hands of the people everywhere it has been introduced. These are among the many undoubted conditions which make it possible for us to offer such an unusual and unqualified guarantee."—Adv.

SOUTH LEADING NORTH WITH WALNUTS

An analysis of the production and acreage of walnuts in California discloses some interesting facts that show that it will be a long time before the northern walnut groves attain the acreage and production of the southern groves. Data compiled by the agricultural extension service of the University of California reveals seventeen counties are producing walnuts to a greater or less commercial extent. Figures for 1923 show the following acreage according to counties engaged in walnut growing:

County	Bearing	Non-Bearing
Alameda	2,500	1,800
Contra Costa	18,883.71	12,340.08
Los Angeles	100	100
Napa	14,506.10	888.50
Orange	1,253	1,177
Riverside	1,253	1,177

These same counties were also analyzed to determine what percentage of the state's crop each county produced. Orange county stands at the head with 30 per cent, Los Angeles follows with 25 per cent, Ventura, third with 22 per cent, Santa Barbara, fourth with 9 per cent, Santa Clara, fifth with 2.12 per cent, Contra Costa seventh, with 2 per cent, and Riverside eighth, with 1 per cent. Nine other counties of the state show less than 1 per cent of the state's total. The total of Southern counties production amounts to 92 per cent of the state's production, and the total for the counties north of the Tehachapi equals eight per cent.

Considerable attention has been given northern California by walnut growers of the state from a standpoint of developing new acreage. The one factor that has directed attention to the northern counties has been the matter of cheaper lands. Experience of the older growers in those sections, however, indicate that the average production for northern groves is considerably less than the acre production in Southern California.

The problem of varieties best suited for the northern climate has not been entirely solved, as yet. The pomology division of the university is giving this important phase of walnut culture close investigation.

There are several outstanding instances, however, in the north, where the acre production has been remarkably high. If the average grove were given the same orchard care and proper varieties and bud stock used as in the case of these exceptional groves, there is

WALNUT GROWERS' PROGRAM FOR FIELD DAY COMPLETE

Following is the day's program for the field day to be held by the Southern California Walnut Growers' association, which will convene at 10 a. m. Saturday at Birch park, here. More than 1,000 growers from all parts of Southern California are expected to attend.

10 a. m. Address of welcome—Supervisor L. O. Whitsett, president Villa Park farm bureau.

"Advantages of Standardized Dehydration Equipment"—Prof. A. W. Christie, division of fruit products, University of California.

"Value of Crop Estimates to the Walnut Industry"—Earle Thorpe, general manager, California Walnut Growers association.

Committee Reports: "Providing School Facilities for Migratory Labor", a report of a special committee—Harry W. Lewis, walnut department, Orange county farm bureau.

"Improved Tree Tools", report of special committee—S. W. Stanley, vice-president Orange county farm bureau; W. B. Hooper, walnut extension specialist.

1:00 p. m. Tour through walnut section of Santa Ana and Tustin to the San Joaquin Fruit company, where the following field demonstration will be featured: A modern dehydration plant, Prof. A. W. Christie; soil moisture experiments, Dr. L. D. Batchelor; pest control results, C. V. Newman; wire bracing demonstration, W. B. Hooper; thinning of old groves, production data—H. E. Wahlberg.

no question but what in time northern production could become quite a competitor to southern production.

However, as much in favor of the southern groves, the increased acre production of the southern counties will probably always keep Southern California in the lead for walnut growing.

The summary for 1923 production in the state reveals a considerable difference in the average production per acre throughout the walnut growing sections of the state.

In some counties the low average is due to the preponderance of young plantings, while in some of the older counties lower figures are due to the crowded condition of old groves. The production figures for 1923 place Ventura county at the head of the list with 1,054 pounds per bearing acre; Orange county, second, with 1,027 pounds; Santa Clara, third, with 967 pounds; Santa Barbara, fourth, with 962 pounds; San Bernardino, fifth, with 821 pounds; San Luis Obispo, sixth, with 675 pounds; Los Angeles, seventh, with 633 pounds; Contra Costa, eighth, with 464 pounds; Riverside, ninth, with 455 pounds and Tulare, eleventh, with 417 pounds.

LOCAL HEN MAKES HIGH OUTPUT MARK

One of the white leghorn hens, in the Southern California poultry show, now being conducted at Pomona, which tied for first place in egg production for the month of June, is an Orange county product, and the property of Black's Reliable ranch, at Costa Mesa.

All of the winners were white leghorns, and all produced twenty-nine eggs each for the month, according to the report just received here.

For the year, the white leghorns, in the show, averaged 64.8 per cent for first place, the Anconas, with 54.7 per cent, and the heavy breeds, third, with an average of 50.17 per cent.

INVENTOR DIES AT HOME IN SANTA ANA

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at Smith and Tuthill's funeral parlor for Edward H. Wiekhorst, 54 years old, inventor of the walnut and citrus stamping machines now used extensively in Orange county and Southern California. Wiekhorst died at his home, 114 Cypress street, last night. Burial will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Beside his widow, the inventor leaves a daughter, Mrs. George Gowen, and a son, Loyal Wiekhorst, both of Santa Ana. Wiekhorst was the son of Peter Wiekhorst, Santa Ana pioneer, who died some years ago. He was born in Preepoot, Ill.

Wiekhorst was the first man to use the vacuum process for fruit stamping machines and several years ago was awarded the $10,000 prize offered by the California Walnut Growers association for the best example of such a machine for the stamping of walnuts. His citrus stamping machine was recently adopted by several large packing companies and is said to have proved very successful.

In the manufacture of his products Wiekhorst was associated with A. S. Wyong as partner.

Cat Saves Six as Fire Sweeps Home

TACOMA, Aug. 6.—The family cat's fear of smoke saved the lives of six persons here when flames completely destroyed the home of Carl V. Hall, 4609 North Fourteenth street. The cat crawled on the bed in which Mrs. Hall was sleeping and awakened her.

County's Advisor Put on Program of Walnut Association

HAROLD E. WAHLBERG
Orange county farm advisor, who will address the Southern California Walnut Growers' association at Birch park, here, Saturday, on "Thinning of Old Groves and Production Data."

FIELD FETE FOR NUT GROWERS OUTLINES

The morning session at Birch park. Chairman S. W. Stanley will present a report of the committee with recommendations for improved pruning and soil tools. W. B. Hooper, walnut extension specialist, will also discuss the question.

Leaving Birch park at 1:15 sharp, after lunch, the walnut growers will participate in a tour throughout the groves of Santa Ana, Tustin and San Joaquin Fruit company. Five field demonstrations have been arranged by Farm Advisor Wahlberg for this trip. The itinerary will be as follows:

Leave Birch park by way of Sycamore street to First; east on First to McClay; south on McClay to McFadden; east on McFadden to Newport boulevard; north to state highway; east on state highway to San Joaquin Fruit company; three-quarters of a mile east of Culver's corner; thence north to the walnut dehydration plant; north to walnut irrigation plots; and returning to Santa Ana through the Irvine ranch headquarters by way of Irvine boulevard.

Dehydration Plant

The first stop at the San Joaquin Fruit company will be the dehydration plant where an old type and latest type of dehydration equipment will be viewed. C. V. Newman, manager of the San Joaquin Fruit company, and A. W. Christie, University of California, will discuss practical points in dehydration.

The second stop will be at the irrigation plots where several subjects will be discussed. The first speaker at this stop will be H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, who will present data and records of production following the thinning of old walnut groves. Dr. L. D. Batchelor of the citrus experiment station will explain the experimental plots being conducted relative to walnut production and irrigation.

C. V. Newman, manager of the San Joaquin Fruit company, will present facts and figures showing results of spraying and dusting for controlling walnut codling moth.

The last demonstration will feature the importance of wire bracing walnut trees, both the rod system and the wire system, used by the San Joaquin Fruit company will be discussed by the walnut specialist.

All sessions of the day are open to the public. Walnut growers and others interested in walnuts are particularly invited to attend. This will be one of the biggest events for walnut growers that has taken place in Orange county for some time.

PICTURE STARS INVAD BEACH FOR SCENES

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 6.—The moving picture people have again come to visit Laguna Beach. This time it is the Thos. H. Ince company with Lambert Hillier as director.

Sets have been built on Pacific View Tract overlooking Laguna Beach and miles of beautiful shoreline. They are filming "Dr. Nye" with Percy Marmont playing the title role. He is supported by an excellent cast. Doris Kenyon is playing "Catherine" while Lucille Ricksen portrays "Faith Copeland." Malcolm McGregor makes a very realistic "Tom Stone" and David Torrence plays "Mr. Stone." Claude Gillingwater does justice to the part of "Judge Copeland" while Dan Mason of "Pegleg," Miss Ruby Laffayette as "Miss Pepper" and Miss Vivian Ogden as "The Town Gossip" carry their parts perfectly.

Percy Marmont stayed at Laguna Beach a short time ago while the "Marriage Cheat" was being filmed and he is thoroughly in love with the beach that is different. He will be well remembered as the star of the "Enemy Sex" and "The Shooting of Dan McGrew."

The Lambert Hillier Trio of radio fame, consisting of Sol Hoppi, G. Leslie and L. McIntyre, furnish gay entertainment to the workers while waiting for the electricians to get the lights adjusted and in good condition.

Miss Doris Kenyon is accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Kenyon. Miss Phyllis Warde is doubling for Miss Ricksen playing "Faith Copeland." Miss Warde is a daughter of Ernest Warde, well-known motion picture director and a granddaughter of Frederick Warde veteran Shakespearean actor who took part in the Mission Play at San Gabriel for several years.

Mr. Les Mantes is assisting Lambert Hillier as assistant director with Mr. Sam Nelson as property man.

The work is being done at their location on Pacific View Tract, overlooking Laguna Beach, and every night hundreds of people have climbed the hill to view the film folks as they work. Last night the film was lighted by flashes from their powerful generators. The company were brought to Laguna in three large busses and five company cars. The actors and actresses, as a rule drive their own machines.

DOUG AND MARY HOME. LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Doug and Mary, known sometimes as Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks, were to reach their Beverly Hills home, this afternoon. The motion picture couple are returning from a five-months tour of European centers.

FENTON CALLS TANLAC THE "WONDER" MEDICINE

And California Man Tells Why.

"If it was left to me to name Tanlac I'd call it the 'wonder medicine,'" is the striking statement of James Henry Fenton, 538 Pine St., San Francisco.

"A few years ago an attack of Flu pulled me down twenty pounds in weight and left me in a mighty bad fix. It robbed me of my appetite, put my stomach to the bad, and took away all my energy and strength."

"Finally I got hold of Tanlac and it helped me at once, so I stuck right to it until I took 10 bottles, gained 16 lbs., and felt years younger. It boosted up my appetite, rid me of indigestion, and gave me new life and energy. Since then I take two or three bottles of Tanlac occasionally and it keeps me in good trim."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

AMERICANS AT BACCARAT RISK MILLIONS

DEAUVILLE, Aug. 6.—With the heat wave sending all fashionable Paris gasping to the sea, a forecast of what the season is to be like was obtained at the baccarat rooms when the rake-off of the banks hit the 10,000,000-franc mark for the first time this summer.

This rake-off is 5 per cent, so the actual sum crossing the tables reached at least 200,000,000 francs, which is within 20,000,000 francs of the high water mark, in August, 1922. Americans formed approximately 60 per cent of the players, some of the most prominent citizens of New York, Chicago and elsewhere gambling with the reckless prodigality that made even the old timers gasp.

'Gold Syndicate' Wins
Preston Gibson, who declares that famous folk are trying to prevent the publication of his new book, "Golden Web," which deals with the life of the idle rich, disguising their names, was one of the luckiest players, three times winning banks of more than 100,000 francs. Gibson has been unlucky all season, however.

The famous "Gold Syndicate" of Greek and Armenian gamblers who control the "high table" at baccarat, are winning back much of their huge losses of last year when they had to quit business.

or the first time in years it is now fashionable to bathe at Deauville. Hitherto bathing paradoxically put you "out of the swim." Owing partly to the heat wave and partly to the influx of Americans, the beach is now crowded with beauties in bathing suits of every shape, fashion and color.

beauties is a Philadelphia damsel who persists in wearing stockings, thereby shocking the French on-lookers who declare that such a costume for the sea is unmoral.

Jean Danjou, famous actress, wore what at a distance looked like a golden one-piece suit, until at close quarters it was discovered to be merely gold leaf fastened to the skin.

The much-heralded attempt by dressmakers to introduce "bathing gowns" most of which were short frocks reaching nearly to the knees with a variety of colors, fashions and drapings, have met with complete failure owing to the refusal of American girls to adopt anything except one-piece suits while reveling in the absence of any censor.

OPEN 'Y' CAMP TO ADULTS OF VICINITY

Announcement was made today of a Y. M. C. A. camp for Santa Ana and Orange county families, to be held at Camp Osceola, in the San Bernardino mountains, at the site where Orange county Y. M. C. A. boys have been in camp this summer. Dates for the camp are August 13 to 22.

R. C. Smedley, local Y. M. C. A. secretary, stated that there would be room in the camp for forty persons and that applications for the camp were now being taken at the "Y." He added that several families had already signed for the outing, including Lester Slaback and family, H. G. Nelson and family, J. G. Allen and family, H. M. Sammis and family and Mrs. B. H. Swadwick. Several other families, he declared, were expected to announce their intention of going, today and tomorrow.

Several of the features of the "family camp," according to George Chessum, county "Y" secretary, will be hikes to Sugar Loaf, Dry lake and the Jump Off, and camp fire entertainments, camp minstrels, camp devotions, fishing, swimming and camp games.

Families who make the trip this season will drive all the way to the camp by automobile.

Registration for families should be made at the Y. M. C. A. building here to Chessum, he said, adding that the rates were considered nominal.

Second Wife of British Lord Sues Him for Divorce

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The second Lady Sholto Douglas has filed a petition for divorce. Sholto, who belongs to the famous Queensberry family, first married Loretta Mooney of San Francisco in 1895. She led a life of hardship with him and the loss of one of her two sons in the war temporarily de-ranked her mind.

She used to wander about London with a label on her and lived in great distress in a suburb until her sister, Helen, came from San Francisco three years ago and rescued her.

The second Lady Sholto is of Dutch birth, her father being a millionaire. Sholto lived entirely on her bounty. He divorced Loretta in 1921 to marry the former Mrs. Mossellmans.

Boy Works Change Game in Village Store, Makes $10

LE ROY, N. Y., Aug. 5.—James P. Tountas, candy store proprietor lost $10 through a quick change game worked by a boy. The lad entered the store and bought some candy, tendering a $20 bill in payment. He then discovered that he had enough change, so asked for his $20 bill back, laying the change from the large bill on the counter. George Tountas, a brother of the proprietor, who waited on the boy, returned the $20, but when he counted the change it was $10 short. The boy dashed out of the store and disappeared before Mr. Tountas could get from behind the counter.

Find $3000 Stolen Rug on Floor of Gardener's House

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Two valuable oriental rugs said to have been stolen from the summer homes of Louis F. Swift and Jonas Kuppenheimer at Lake Forest, were recovered, one of them carpeting the kitchen of Albert Langer, formerly a gardener on the Swift estate. The other was being used in the office of a coal company to which it had been sold. The rugs were valued at $3000 each and are badly damaged. Silverware from the Swift home was found in a box containing tinware in the former gardener's kitchen. Langer and three others were arrested.

WEDDING CHECK BOGUS? COX'S MIND HAZY

Cashing of a $25 no-fund check by Justice J. B. Cox at conclusion of a marriage ceremony he performed here some time ago for R. C. Miller, of Los Angeles, evidently made no very deep impression on his mind, for he declared here today that he had no recollection of the incident.

In Judge Thompson's court in Los Angeles yesterday, Mrs. Irene Miller, in giving testimony in her suit for divorce from Miller, asserted that her husband gave the Santa Ana justice such a check to cover the cost of the license and the marriage fee. She said the check was returned to the justice unhonored.

She was quoted as stating that her husband always was "broke" and that when he came to Santa Ana he did not have the price of the license.

"Miller was a good talker and he induced Judge Cox to buy us the license and take a $25 check to cover the cost of the license and the marriage fee," Mrs. Miller is quoted as having testified. She was granted a divorce.

"I do not remember the incident, but it may have happened," Judge Cox said.

New Zealand

Race and sentiment combine to make the people of New Zealand the most essentially British community in the empire, and the problem of increasing the scanty population of that dominion is clearly one of vital importance.

There seems to be little doubt that New Zealand's source of wealth and prosperity is fundamentally based upon her agricultural and pastoral industries, the development of which must consequently be her chief concern.

An article by Maj. Gen. Wauchope paid tribute to the flourishing state of the three main farming industries—dairy, frozen mutton and wool. He pointed out that the value of farm products exported in 1923 was, roughly speaking, twice that of the exports of 1913. Last year New Zealand supplied England with one-half of the total imports of frozen mutton and lamb, while in 1922 the value of the wool clip increased by 2,000,000 pounds in the 12 months and reached a total of 10,000,000 sterling.

These are notable figures for a population of fewer than 1,500,000 souls, but their increase in the future, by the aid of new settlers from overseas, is a difficult and delicate problem. The best lands of the dominion have long ago been sold, and where good land remains available its price is abnormally high—London Times.

The skyscraper type of hotel and office building, with skeleton iron or steel frame, is an outstanding wonder of the modern world. Among the industries built up or influenced by the inventions of Thomas Edison are moving pictures, telephones, phonographs, cement, electrical railways, dynamo and motors, and electric lighting and power.

THIRTEEN HAS JINX EFFECT ON CAMPERS

FULLERTON, Aug. 6.—Converts to the idea that there may be something to this "thirteen" business after all, G. W. Finch and a number of friends have just returned to Fullerton after a trip into the mountains back of Mount Whitney.

There were thirteen animals—horses and mules—in the pack train made up for the local party by the two guides when they left Lone Pine, Inyo county, where they started their long climb over the Sierra Nevada range.

The "jinx" soon manifested itself. They had not been a mile on the trail, which led almost straight up, when one of the mules, loaded with bedding, started cavorting and slipped over the edge of a precipice, plunging down several hundred feet and landing with a dull thud. It was killed of course.

"I did not feel at all easy in mind about that number 13," continued Finch to The Register correspondent, "and I had reason to feel my apprehensions were well founded when that darned old mule slipped over the cliff. Luckily he tore off his pack in his struggles and so Tuffree and I were able to save our bedding. It freezes up in those regions every night so we were glad of our blankets."

"We got some wonderful golden trout," went on Finch, recounting some of the experiences of the party. "I never had such wonderful fishing before. We all got limits catches every day. I was such easy angling that we filled the barrels off our hooks so as to make a little better sport of it."

The party which was made up of R. S. E. and Merle Gregory, J. Tuffree, and E. S. Miles, visited Cottonwood Lakes, and came out via Rock Creek and the Kern river.

25 Cents Enough For Movie Shows Producer Asserts

SEATTLE, Aug. 6.—Sam L. Warner, production manager of Warner brothers motion picture producers of California, declared at a meeting of 150 theater owners and motion picture exhibitors here today that admission prices to motion picture theaters "must come down."

"The motion picture started as a 10-cent show and the '10-cent' audience built the film business," said Mr. Warner. "A man used to be able to take his entire family to the show but he is lucky now if he can raise the price of admission for himself with any degree of regularity. I do not mean the price of the best picture houses should be reduced to 10 cents, but I do say 25 cents should be the top price."

Mr. Warner also said that "an invisible trust is threatening the soul of the motion picture industry in order to gain control."

Horseshoe Meet Opens August 27

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—The fourth annual California horseshoe tournament gets under way at Pasadena August 27 and continues for three days.

Anybody who knows how to pitch a shoe is eligible for the meet, according to G. E. Krimbill of Long Beach, who is in charge of the entries.

Eight events are on the program.

PHYSICIANS COMPLAIN OF LOW REMUNERATION

DUBLIN, Aug. 6.—The Irish Medical association, at its annual meeting, passed a resolution expressing the hope that no change would be made in the system of medical registration in the Free State which would interfere with the right of medical men qualified in Ireland to practice in Great Britain and its dominions.

Dr. W. O'Sullivan, the president, said that since the establishment of their own government the medical association was not holding its own. The dispensary doctors were treating over 2,000,000 people in the Free State under the Medical Charities Acts and received about $80,000 for their public health work. No other country in the world, he said, paid so little. In all the circumstances, he added, "it was not to be wondered at that the people of the country were physically a third-rate population when they should be an easy first. This condition, it was to be feared, would continue until they became as degenerate physically as the pigmy races of Central Africa."

TEN MISSING HEROES AWARDED DECORATIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—A list of 10 "missing heroes" of the World War, awarded decorations for valor but never found for presentation of the medals, was made public today by the war department in the hope that the men or their relatives or friends would see press notices and apply for the honors that "are theirs." The list includes also the names of three soldiers to whom similar awards were made after death and whose relatives have not been found. The war department has the decorations and will keep them until it finds persons authorized to accept them.

The list of missing men includes:

Sergeant Chester H. West, 363rd Infantry, Italian war cross, Los Banos, Merced county, California; Sergeant Carl C. Carter, Seventh Infantry, distinguished service cross, Fresno, California.

The last named was awarded decoration after death and relatives have never been located.

Stage and Screen

Scene taken from "The Perfect Flapper" which opens a three days engagement at the Yost theater tonight. Above are pictured Colleen Moore and Frank Mayo, who carry the burden of the picture.

YOST—"The Perfect Flapper," with Colleen Moore in the title role.

HALF-A-DOLLAR BILL IS GREAT SEA STORY

"Half a Dollar Bill," now showing at Walker's theater, is said to be the finest sea story ever screened. It not only has a cast of such prominent players as Anna Q. Nilsson, William T. Carleton, Raymond Hatton, Mitchell Lewis, George MacQuarrie, and Alec B. Francis, but it introduces a new juvenile actor in four-year-old Frankie Darro, who gives an exceptional performance as the young boy who is nicknamed "Half a Dollar Bill," because as a baby he is found abandoned with a torn dollar bill pinned to him.

The atmosphere of the sea pervades the whole picture, some of the general views of the good ship "Grampus" seeming almost to shed salt.

THE PERFECT FLAPPER AT YOST THEATER TONIGHT

Colleen Moore in "The Perfect Flapper," a First National picture, opens a three-day engagement at the Yost theater tonight.

Colleen proves conclusively that she is the rightful holder of the crown. She has been given a cast and production that will go down as one hearing to the Yost theater. "Everything" is to say only a part of it. The picture is full of comedy and pathos, stunning gowns and daring, thrilling escapes and spectacular scenes, flawless direction and beautiful photography, and above all—it has the one and only Colleen, who is herself the very embodiment of up-to-date American girlhood.

Sydney Chaplin in an important role gives the picture its greatest comedy moments. He is acclaimed and rightly, one of screen's greatest comedians, and if his work in "The Perfect Flapper" does not land him on the very top rung of the ladder of comedy we miss our guess. The scenes representing Colleen as Juliet and Chaplin as Romeo are especially clever.

Word Alternate

There were as many alternates as district delegates in the New York convention. Those listening in on the convention heard the word alternate used very frequently.

It was used by the chairman, by the reading clerk, by others on the platform, by delegates on the floor and by the local announcer. But one who followed the proceedings closely never heard the most authoritative pronunciation used a single time.

Both the Standard and Webster dictionaries prefer the short sound of a, in the first syllable, though recognizing the short sound of o as a permissible substitute. The common usage is older-nate, while that commended by the dictionary is al-ter-nate, with the a sounded as in at. The same is true of alternating and alternative. However, the word alternate, used as an adjective permits no second choice in the vowel sound, which must be the short a, with the preferred accent on the second instead of the first syllable.

Small points, perhaps, but small points enter into proper regard for the refinements of speech.—Kansas City Star.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps to Restore Health

A great many letters similar to the following commend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a wonderful medicine for bringing the new mother back to normal health and strength.

It is an excellent restorative, contains no harmful drugs, and can be taken in safety by a nursing mother.

Thousands of mothers who have regained their strength by taking it are its best recommendation. Why not take it yourself?

Now Well Again

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"After I had my second child I felt sick and nervous and could not do much. Then after the other baby came I was worse than ever. I suffered this way for a long time and did not know what to do. I was looking over my cook books, and found one of your little books and I sat down and read every page. Then I bought a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it before I stopped, and now I am well again. I always recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. JOHN WITZKE, 773 8th Ave., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

DAYLIGHT SAVING? YES? NO?

Santa Anan's Seen; All Vote Approval
MILDAYS' MAKEUP IS ISSUE

The Big Chief was perched on the corner of the City Editor's desk thinking out loud.

"People are funny," he said. "Now you take this daylight saving proposition as a means of conserving electric energy, about which we see so much in the papers. I don't blame any town or county or even any section of the country for not wanting to turn the clock forward and thus put itself out of gear with the rest of the world. But why don't you just start our day earlier and end it earlier, without changing the clock. I cannot understand. It would certainly save lots of electric energy. Wouldn't inconvenience anybody at all."

Consider "Make-up" the question of saving electric energy, why is it that the business and social world wastes daylight by starting its day at 8, 9, or 10 o'clock in the morning and ending it anywhere from 10 o'clock at night to 2 or 3 o'clock the next morning? What difference would it make for anybody if we commenced the day an hour earlier in the winter and two hours in summer? The only difference I can think of right off the bat—and that's only a guess—is that it might start some evening entertainment before dark and that milday has one costume and make-up for daylight and quite another for electric light. I'll admit—not facetiously or sarcastically but seriously and sincerely—that we should do nothing that would mar the beauty of the fair sex, but—

"Well why don't you find out about this? Ask a whole lot of people why they start the day so late and finish it so early—the next morning."

Opinions Asked

"The question raised is really interesting, both socially and economically. How about an hour or two hours less of electric light strain on the eyes? You know statistics show that we have very bad eyes. And then there is the question of nerves and insanity. Oh well, you tell 'em."

Acting on the "hunch" by the "Big Chief," the writer today sallied down Fourth street for a few minutes and halted men on the street.

"Why don't you go to work one hour earlier in the day and knock off an hour earlier in the afternoon," he asked. "Do you believe it would be a good move if the community of Santa Ana joined in a daylight saving program by agreeing to the earlier hour for opening business, home and social activities without changing the clock?"

The questions were put to the men and were duplicated later over the phone to a number of women, many of whom refused to be quoted or to permit use of their name.

It might be said also that a number of men were encountered who took like positions.

Many "For" Plan

"I love my sleep in the morning, but were the community to establish the earlier business hour I would be for it strong," said Fred Newcomb, local shoe merchant. "It would be a fine program. I am sure it would be appreciated by employees, because by closing an hour earlier in the afternoon they would have more time for recreation."

"I am going on my vacation and the hours of work at this time do not concern me," commented Miss Mabel McFadden, president of the Business Women's club. "However, I see no reason why all interests of the city should not get together and adopt the schedule without changing the clock."

"It would be a fine scheme—and there is no reason why we could not adjust our daily activities to a schedule conforming to rising and retiring an hour earlier," said Mrs. W. L. Delmington, wife of the district manager of the Southern California Edison company.

"Get to work an hour earlier in the morning—say, that would be a splendid scheme," said Mrs. E. H. Boden, in readily declaring that it would be a progressive step to adopt the daylight plan. "Two many of us stay abed too late in the morning—although I will not confess to this habit. The morning air is bracing; the beauties of nature are more in evidence, and all would feel better for beginning work at an earlier hour and stopping at an earlier hour in the afternoon. Recreation—that would be the compensation for many shut-ins. I favor the daylight saving plan—but I do not want to see the clocks advanced an hour—it produces a situation which is too confusing."

Others expressed themselves as follows:

Follows Custom

C. O. Elliott, grocer at 1002 South Main street—"I open my store at 7 a. m. because it is the custom. I could open an hour earlier just as easily. I go to bed early and it is no trouble for me to get up early."

C. E. Jackson, former sheriff of Orange county—"I am eating regularly now, but I am not working on stated hours, so a change would not affect me. I do believe, though, that good results would follow introduction of the suggested working hours. My social activities are not very enervating, but I know of no reason why social functions could not begin an hour earlier in the evening as well as at the present hour."

W. E. Patterson, manager of the Certified Used Car Market, North Broadway—"I go to work at 8 a. m., but would much rather go at 7 a. m. and quit an hour earlier. I get up late partly because I do not go to work early and partly because of custom. It would be no trouble for me to adjust my habits to a new situation as to hours."

Mrs. Adeline Adair, day chief operator with the United States Long Distance Telephone and Telegraph company—"I believe operators would prefer the early starting and stopping hour. We operate here for sixteen hours, beginning at 6:30 a. m. and there would not be much difference, however, except that the intense activity of the morning would begin an hour earlier and more of the operators would have to be at the switchboard an hour earlier than is the custom now."

Favored by Farmer

W. B. Harwood, member of the city police force—"The only reason I do not go to work earlier, is because my instruction is to the contrary. I would like to see a general plan of community co-operation in the earlier hour program."

W. E. Chilson, retired farmer and owner of considerable business property in Santa Ana—"Farmers would find it profitable to begin their day's work earlier than they do now. It makes no difference to me what working hours prevail."

Elmer Cubbon, farmer—"Farm labor now works on scheduled hours—quite different from the time when it was employed from sun-up to sun-down. There is no reason why farming operations by hired help could not be begun at 6 as well as 7 a. m., or an hour in advance of any time that may now be scheduled for opening the day's work."

O. A. Haley, agent for Dodge Brothers cars—"As far as I am concerned, I don't see that anything can be gained by a change in present practices. I believe in letting 'her ride as she is.'"

Clyde Walker, manager of the McFadden Hardware company—"I am favorable to a change, if the entire community co-operates."

HEAVY LOSSES ARE FELT BY DAIRYMEN

BY J. B. BICHAN.

Orange County Dairy Inspector. One of the most discouraging losses to the dairymen is having to send some of their best cows to the butcher, when, for some cause or other, their udders have become so infected that the milk cannot be used. It is hard enough to lose a profitable animal after she has passed the peak of production, but when one has to be sold just when she is reaching her maximum production, it is a real economic loss.

As the healthfulness of our milk supply, and chances of a profitable livelihood, to the dairymen, are so dependent on healthy udders in dairy herds, it might be well to draw attention to practices in the handling of fresh cows as a factor in avoiding bag trouble.

After the cow freshens, it is obvious she will not be in a normal condition for a week or so, and there is a possibility for some fever being present for that length of time and a great deal of fever in her udder.

Feeding grain and allowing a full ration, as many of our good dairy cows in such a condition, is obviously poor management. This aggravates and often causes more or less congestion in the udder, leaving it weakened ever after, so that it may intermittently be affected with fever and finally becomes so weakened that it is easily infected with organisms that will completely ruin the bag.

The overfeeding of fresh cows is the most common original cause of bag trouble, even if no grain is fed. Yet, how often do we find fresh cows taking their places in the barn and allowed a full grain ration immediately after freshening. This may not injure poor or medium producers, but it is inviting disastrous results to a good dairy animal, bred to throw all her energy to producing milk and a constitution that is weakened may be from unbalanced feeding or a lack of knowing exactly just what nutrients are necessary to keep such an animal in proper mineral balance.

There should be a notice placed in every dairy establishment over the feed bin, printed in letters of red and an inch deep, reading something like this:

"Don't feed grain to fresh cows till the bag is free from fever."

A great amount of the wastage of dairy animals comes from unbalanced rations and overfeeding. Anyone can throw a lot of grain into a cow for a year or so and get good results, but it requires intelligent handling and feeding to maintain the health of a herd over a period of five years.

FIX SANITARIUM SITE; COUNTY TO PAY HALF

Orange county's voting registration being nearly 10,000 more than the combined registration of Riverside and Imperial counties, this county will bear more than half of the expense of establishing the proposed tri-counties tuberculosis sanitarium, it was announced today following a meeting of the board of supervisors, at which purchase of a site was ratified.

Selection of the Dr. Coffman ranch near Beaumont, in Riverside county, as a site for a proposed sanitarium, was approved by the board late yesterday in accordance with an agreement between the counties to share the cost on the basis of comparative registration for the August primary election. The Orange county registration was 37,802, with 19,061 for Riverside county and approximately 9,000 for Imperial county.

From these figures, officials estimate that Orange county's share of the sanitarium expense will be approximately 59 per cent, that of Riverside county about 29 per cent, and that of Imperial county about 14 per cent.

Interpreter Is Balked at $15; Makes Fine $20

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—Because City Clerk V. A. Sterling couldn't say $15 in Mexican John Salgado had to pay a $20 fine on a charge of reckless driving in City Recorder Andrew Wilson's court here.

Wilson assessed the Santa Ana man $15 but Sterling couldn't say it. Sterling was very adept at saying $20 however, and did so. When the court learned of the predicament he came to Sterling's rescue and made the fine what the interpreter had said. He gave Salgado two days to raise it. Franklin Baker of Santa Monica, H. C. Lyon of Newport Beach, H. Truman of Newport Beach, and L. B. Dully were fined small sums on charges of fracturing the traffic regulations.

VICTIM BUYS UP FURS STOLEN FROM HIM

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—It is a chance meeting with another business man and a comment on a police tell, that led to the recovery of $5000 worth of furs stolen from Louis Herman, 194 West Twenty-ninth street, and the arrest of Jacob Wickstein, 440 years old, of 1414 Avenue N. Brooklyn, tenant in the Twenty-ninth street building; Charles Dee, 21, 24 Elizabeth st., elevator operator, and Charles Dwyer, 40, 55 Lambert street Elmhurst, L. I., engineer in the building.

When Herman opened his place of business one recent morning, he discovered it had been robbed. Detectives Anderson and Porter, of the West Thirtieth street station, sent to investigate, found no clues, but told Herman to keep his eyes open and tell them of anything he might see or hear pertaining to furs.

Herman was on his way to lunch when he met Wickstein, who inquired about business. Herman said it was pretty good. Then Wickstein, the police say, asked him how he would like to buy about $5000 worth of furs he had a chance to get, but had no use for.

Herman asked a few questions, then reported to the detectives. They advised him to mark $200 in bills and arrange for the purchase. When the detectives closed in on Wickstein, Dee and Dwyer, each had $100 of the marked bills, they say. Wickstein said he knew nothing more about the furs than that Dee and Dwyer had approached him as a prospective customer. Dee and Dwyer declined to say anything.

Herman said the furs were those that had been stolen from his place.

Orange county is the birthplace of the Southern California Walnut growers department. It was a little over a year ago that the walnut department of the Orange County farm bureau sent out invitations to the walnut committees of other counties to consider the advisability of amalgamating the scattering efforts of the different walnut groups. In response to this invitation delegates were sent from Ventura, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino counties and met in the farm bureau office at Santa Ana, where the idea of a regional department was announced. It received the immediate approval of all the delegates attending, as many advantages were seen whereby many activities of a common nature to all the counties could be managed more systematically under the one department.

A committee on by-laws was appointed, which was instructed to report at the annual walnut growers field day held last August in Ventura county, at which time the department was formally organized and the by-laws approved by the various counties interested.

The present officers of the Southern California Walnut department are: E. G. Hotchkiss, Covina, chairman; J. P. Thille, Ventura, vice-chairman; and W. S. Rosencrans, Gardena, secretary. Delegates: Orange county, Arthur McFadden, Santa Ana, S. W. Stanley, Tustin; Ventura county, J. P. Thille, Ventura, C. E. Kelsey, Santa Paula; Santa Barbara, E. A. Campbell, Goleta, G. E. Franklin, Carpinteria; Los Angeles, A. P. Stockwell, Lancaster; E. G. Hotchkiss, Covina; San Bernardino, F. D. Adams, Ontario, M. R. Kees, Chino.

FAKE REMEDIES UNCOVERED IN THIS STATE

A very great service is being done the people of California by the state department of agriculture by reason of its investigations and exposures of fake animal remedies of various kinds, fake fertilizers, fake tree stimulants, fake "tree doctors," fake remedies for tree and other plant diseases and fake spray materials for insect pests. In many cases prosecutions have been made and convictions obtained.

Recently the division of chemistry has been investigating a number of very glowing promises made to poultrymen as to the effect of certain lice and mite remedies if used on infested poultry and premises, or if placed in the hen's drinking water. One of them, sold in tablet form, stated: "Tablets dropped into drinking fountains banish vermin, make fowls grow faster and increase egg yield. Soon after the fowls drink the mineralized water all lice and mites leave them."

To test this and other internal remedies for lice, nearly 100 fowls were used in experiments at Davis in co-operation with the agricultural experiment station. The experiments covered a period of two months and at the end of that time the hens receiving the internal remedies in accordance with instructions given by the manufacturers were as lousy as fowls which had not been treated. In one case more than 700 live lice and mites were taken from a fowl which had been fed one of the remedies for the stated period.

The result of the experiments indicated that practically all of the liquids to be used internally for lice eradication were ordinary lime-sulphur solution, and that the tablets were largely composed of calcium sulphate, somewhat similar to lime-sulphur. Some poultrymen, therefore, paid as high as $1 an ounce, or $128 a gallon, for an orange-colored solution just because it was done up in a neat little package and cleverly advertised. The material was actually worth about 25 cents a gallon.

LICENSE PROBLEM TALKED AT ORANGE

ORANGE, Aug. 6.—At the meeting of the Orange city council yesterday C. C. Bonebrake was authorized to repair and oil the entire length of Palmyra street, from Tustin street to Baxavia. The street has been badly in need of repairs, and the work was authorized to take place soon.

The council agreed to the opening of a new subdivision consisting of 39 lots, to be known as the Paul Home Tract. The subdivision faces on Palmyra and Pixley streets, and is to be opened by W. A. Phillips and F. J. Paul.

City Attorney L. F. Coburn placed a new ordinance before the council in regards to the city licenses of the merchants. At present the merchants pay an amount in relation to the amount of business which they transact. A great many of the merchants asked Mr. Coburn to place this matter before the council, asking that all merchants pay an equal amount of $6. A committee was appointed to look into the matter more thoroughly.

Two resolutions were adopted for the improvement of the city, the first being the closing of a useless alley on the Forester and Smith subdivisions. The second was for the construction of walks and curb on East Palmyra street.

C. Batis; One Act Play, Joseph Ritter; Music, Cypress Quartette.

ORANGE COUNTY WALNUT DEPT. YEAR OLD

Orange county is the birthplace of the Southern California Walnut growers department. It was a little over a year ago that the walnut department of the Orange County farm bureau sent out invitations to the walnut committees of other counties to consider the advisability of amalgamating the scattering efforts of the different walnut groups. In response to this invitation delegates were sent from Ventura, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino counties and met in the farm bureau office at Santa Ana, where the idea of a regional department was announced. It received the immediate approval of all the delegates attending, as many advantages were seen whereby many activities of a common nature to all the counties could be managed more systematically under the one department.

A committee on by-laws was appointed, which was instructed to report at the annual walnut growers field day held last August in Ventura county, at which time the department was formally organized and the by-laws approved by the various counties interested.

The present officers of the Southern California Walnut department are: E. G. Hotchkiss, Covina, chairman; J. P. Thille, Ventura, vice-chairman; and W. S. Rosencrans, Gardena, secretary. Delegates: Orange county, Arthur McFadden, Santa Ana, S. W. Stanley, Tustin; Ventura county, J. P. Thille, Ventura, C. E. Kelsey, Santa Paula; Santa Barbara, E. A. Campbell, Goleta, G. E. Franklin, Carpinteria; Los Angeles, A. P. Stockwell, Lancaster; E. G. Hotchkiss, Covina; San Bernardino, F. D. Adams, Ontario, M. R. Kees, Chino.

Bureau Directors To Meet Thursday

The August meeting of the board of directors of the Orange county farm bureau has been scheduled for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, according to circulars sent to board members today. The meeting will be held in the offices of the farm bureau.

Aside from making plans for a picnic to be held by the farm bureau at the Orange county park the directors have several resolutions to act upon. J. Frederick Ahlborn, chairman of the water conservation committee, of the Associated Chambers of Commerce will also address the board.

Final plans for the annual field day for walnut growers, which is to be held here Saturday, will also be made, it was announced.

Too Many Fish at Newport Beach for Campground Man

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—A. J. Truax, manager of the municipal camp ground, had a new experience. A man left camp because he caught too many fish.

"They leave occasionally because of poor fishing but this is a new one on me," said Truax.

The gentleman had been deep sea fishing where catches became so large and frequent that his hands were blistered pulling in the lines. Irritated by his condition, he became disgusted and left for home, Truax said.

Fullerton Store Collecting Bibles

FULLERTON, Aug. 6.—Bibles old and new, are forming a special display in a local book store. The ancient tomes are from the collections of Charles C. Chapman and the Rev. Percy Clarkson, rector of the St. Andrews Episcopal church.

One of the bibles was printed in 1585 and is all in Latin. Another includes the Apocalypse. Both are copiously illustrated with wood cuts. Another old volume is a combined bible and prayer book, printed in London in 1613. It also embodies a lot of the family history of the family by which it was owned for over two centuries.

A koran all in hand-written characters and on parchment, dating from the 13th century, and a Douai edition of the bible translated in 1609, also are included in the display.

The quotas of the different cities of the county were put before the council, and were as follows: Santa Ana, $60; Fullerton, $30; Orange, $25; Huntington Beach, $20; Newport Beach, $12.50; Brea, $12.50; Seal Beach, $5.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—The Vernon club of the Pacific coast league is not for sale. Dr. E. E. Is the crouch system used by baseball catchers all wrong? A famous track coach of a big eastern college thinks so. He has some convincing arguments to back up his contentions.

slow of foot. The outstanding stars are no exception. Let two players of equal speed, one a catcher, the other an infielder or outfielder, break into the league at the same time and the catcher will show the wear and tear much sooner. In five years of play the catcher will slow up a step on the other player. Over a period of 10 years he will be from two to three steps slower. There is a reason. The famous track coach insists it can all be traced back to the crouch system used by the catchers, the practice of squatting on every ball pitched, prior to giving the signal. The argument of the famous coach sounds logical. It is worthy of a trial but probably will never get it. Baseball players are prone to follow precedent. Catchers have used the crouch system since the introduction of the game. In all probability will continue it.

OLYMPIC STARS RETURN HOME FROM PARIS

Enthusiastic Welcome Is Given America's Athletes By Cheering Crowds

By HENRY L. FARRELL United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—America's triumphant Olympic expedition, sun-bronzed, clear-eyed young men and women, who swept everything before them at Paris, arrived home today. Their victory at the eighth Olympiad was the most overwhelming in the history of the games. Their welcome home was the most enthusiastic a sweltering city, in the name of the nation, could give. The official welcome was accorded the returning athletes aboard the America down the bay. Then, while harbor vessels toyed and shrieked a welcome, the big liner, with the little Macon alongside, steamed slowly up to her pier at Hoboken.

Joe Lynch Trims Rivers At Vernon

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—California Joe Lynch won a four-round decision over Georgie Rivers at Vernon last night. The boys fought at 118 pounds. Alex Trambitas beat Bobby Corbett and Ernie Hood knocked out Ted Levin, on the same card. Ray Burke, truck driver, who is credited with a knockout win over Harry Dunlap, "badger handit", was put to sleep in the second round of his first professional appearance, by Jean Carpentier.

Moser Is Low At Wilshire Tourney

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—The second half of the qualifying play at the Wilshire country club invitational golf tournament started today with 190 safely in after the first day's rounds. A. L. Moser, with a score of 75, led in the medal play yesterday. He was one stroke ahead of Bordet, of Brentwood. Third place for the day went to T. E. Seddon of Rancho and G. S. Merritt, who went around in 78.

"Kid" Mexico to Meet Fast Boy Friday Night—Will Give Away Weight

If "Kid" Mexico doesn't take the measure of "Kid" Williams in their match at Huntington Beach Friday night it will not be because Mexico is not in condition. The popular promoter-boxer is working out every afternoon in preparation for the big event. Mexico will give away many pounds when he meets Williams. The promoter weighs in the neighborhood of 158 pounds while his opponent is a light heavy. However, this little fact does not seem to be bothering the Huntington Beach idol. It behooves Mexico to get into the best of condition for he probably will tackle Colima in the main spot at the opening of the new Wilmington arena on August 20 and if he has hopes of bringing the coast middleweight championship back to the beach he will have to be in pretty fine shape.

THREE TYPES OF TIES

Most men pay close and circumstantial heed to the color and pattern of their neckwear, but pay very little to the shape of it. Yet, there is a wide variety of forms each of which best befits a certain cast of features and this matter should be made the subject of far more attention. The two most favored shapes in neckwear are the so-called four-in-hand (originally termed the sailor knot) and the bow-knot tie of which the bat-wing and butterfly bows are variants. As a rule, to which there are occasional and sensible exceptions, the four-in-hand scarf is most becoming to the round, full face, conducing to give it an appearance of more depth. Contrawise, the bow-knot tie looks best under the long, oval face, tending to give it an aspect of greater width. If these two simple and obvious principles of proportion are kept in mind, one cannot go amiss. Now, if you have the cast of features to which the bow-knot tie is well suited, you may select one of three types sketched alongside. The first is the elongated tie with a snug center and pointed ends. The second is the round-end tie with a plump knot. The third is the batwing or, in its extreme form, the butterfly bow having a right-and-tight center and outspread fan-shaped tips. When Robert Burns wrote, "Nae man can tether time and time," he might well have added, or comfort, either. It rides Juggernaut-like over fashions and traditions. Notwithstanding that most of us admit that the starched collar is smarter and trimmer than the soft collar, the preference for the latter simply declines to decline. It has become one-and-indivisible with Summer dress. The proper line of division would be to set aside the soft collar for sport, country and knockabout wear and to reserve the starched collar for town, formal or semi-formal wear. In that way the doubted usefulness of each type would be preserved without encroaching upon the other. However, you cannot argue with one grilled by the heat, and so the soft collars and bow-knot ties, shown here, are the types that are generally worn in Summer by The Well-Dressed Man.

A PUZZLE A DAY

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

The drawing shows the finish of a game of pool. There are six balls left on the table. (There are fifteen balls in the game, to start with, numbered from 1 to 15, and each ball of a different color). Each of the two players pockets three of the six remaining balls; but the numbers on the balls won by the first player total seven times as much as those won by the second player. Which balls were won by each player, and what were the numbers on them?

Yesterday's Answer
There were 28 soldiers. They were divided into groups of 1/2, 1/4 and 1-7, with 3 soldiers remaining.

14 plus 7 plus 4 plus 3 equals 28.

THE SAVINGS BANK LESSON

Figures from the savings banks of Santa Ana supply additional evidence of the fact that Santa Ana is in a healthy condition financially. These figures show that the total of deposits in savings banks at this time, in Santa Ana, is $3,296,931, with a gain of $136,569 over the total deposits of last year. When business conditions generally over the country are taken into consideration, this increase is proof that Santa Ana rightfully claims a prominent place on the "white spot" map.

When times are bad, savings decrease. When a city is going ahead, savings increase.

The reports from the banks show that withdrawals from Santa Ana banks this summer have been largely for sound investments. The trend of local investors these days is to make inquiry concerning purchases of stocks and bonds before they buy. Santa Anans have had experiences enough in buying get-rich-quick stocks.

If everyone who is tempted to buy something that looks like a million dollars within a month took time to see a Santa Ana banker before he fell to the whims of the smooth salesman, there would be fewer investment mistakes. That is, if one dare dignify by the use of the word "investment" some of the stock selling schemes for which Santa Anans have fallen; rather, one should specify them as "sure things"—for the promoter.

So the trend toward sound investments is a good sign in Orange county. There is no reason why Orange county should continue to be looked upon as "easy picking" for Los Angeles and other promoters. If those who accumulate money in Santa Ana would keep the money in a savings bank, or, when investing, talk the proposed investment over with a banker, Santa Ana would profit annually by hundreds of thousands of dollars. The savings bank figures convince us that the lesson has been learned, at least by a great number of those who are disposed toward thrift.

MUST HAVE TAX RELIEF

The Register ventures to indulge in the hope that the expressed determination of the Board of Supervisors to reduce the tax-rate will be reflected in our tax bills. The Register will go further than that and express the belief that it will be so. Not that there is here any question as to the sincerity of good intention, but that good intention with respect to tax reduction is so often properly classified as that kind of good intention with which hell is said to be paved. Sometimes a reduction of tax-rate follows a raise in assessed valuations and gets us nowhere. It is not even good politics, for the people are wise to that sort of thing. Sometimes the general fund levy is cut down and special funds raised, and again we get nowhere. Sometimes a genuine all-round reduction of rates is nullified by the State Board of Equalization.

But for all that we hope and believe that we are going to get smaller tax bills from Tax Collector J. C. Lamb for 1924-5 than we did for 1923-4. Certainly that is now the sincere intention of the Board of Supervisors, Assessor James Sleeper and Auditor W. C. Jerome.

The Register is thoroughly committed to the proposition that we have reached that stage in practicing progressive policies and indulging in the luxuries of liberty where we should pause and take stock.

The burdens of taxation must be lightened and they ought to be diffused.

Lightening can come in a direct and immediate way if all taxing powers will cut out of their budgets everything in the way of public expenditures that is not absolutely necessary. Even some things that may work for economy in the long run can, no doubt, profitably be deferred.

Diffusion is more difficult. It means a change in our system of taxation. It means placing the larger part of the tax burden on expenditures instead of on income. Or, to put it another way, it means taxing the consumption of commodities rather than the creation of values. It means a reversal of the existing order, which places a premium on slothfulness and a penalty on thrift.

Thinking along this line, Richard T. Ely has a very able and searching article in the Country Gentleman of July 12. After showing how, in the last analysis, the burden of taxation finally falls on the farmer, Mr. Ely says:

"It is possible to obtain some relief by cutting public expenditures, and perhaps obtain additional relief through a reduction of federal income taxes. **

"Regularly and normally public expenditures increase with the growth and mounting needs of civilization. Regularly and normally also, liberty increases public expenditures. Nearly two hundred years ago Montesquieu laid it down as a universal law, with no exception, that liberty increases taxation. The history of free government during the past two hundred years shows it runs parallel with increasing public expenditures. **

"But, public expenditures cannot be entirely cut off; they bring us those things that increasingly promote the general welfare; they are the price of progress. All we can hope to do is to keep a proper balance between private and public wealth and postpone desirable improvements until we are able to afford them. Taxes for road improvements afford an illustration. There is no doubt about the desirability of improving our highways, but we may increase expenditures so rapidly as to suffer more harm than good.

"More and more we are satisfying our wants through public agencies, life is becoming more and more socialized, and more taxes are levied to meet social-welfare expenses. These include expenditures for education, for recreation, for hospitals, for conservation of health, for mothers' pensions, for soldiers' relief, for public employment agencies, for county agents, county nurses, home demonstration agents, farmers' institutes, county agricultural schools, state marketing departments; besides a hundred new developments of governmental activities which if adopted will add to the total of public expenditures. **

"We have reached a period in our development when we must make a choice between continuance of our progressive policies and an abandonment of some popular ideas on the subject of taxation. This was reached a good many years ago in Switzerland, when it was seen that either the doctrinaire opposition to various indirect taxes must be abandoned or an improvement of social conditions through taxation must be abandoned. Very wisely the Swiss people gave up the attempt to meet public burdens by excessive taxation of property and income, and resorted to various taxes on consumption. It is desirable that we should do the same. **

"Take the gasoline tax, which is fortunately being widely extended. Even though only two cents a gallon, it yields a large sum, and it is roughly in proportion to consumption and ability to pay. Could a fairer tax for road maintenance be devised?

"Our present taxes are to an alarming extent taxes upon thrift. The man who spends his entire income and saves nothing has an easy burden to carry compared to the man who accumulates property and thereby serves the community as well as himself.

"Putting a larger proportion of the burden of taxes upon expenditures will transfer to the industrial classes a part of the too heavy load the farmer carries."

France Has the Advantage

San Francisco Chronicle

The Reparations Commission has the power, under the Treaty of Versailles, to declare when Germany is in voluntary default in reparation payment. Three of the members—the delegates of Great Britain, France and Italy—have the right to vote on all questions. The delegate of Belgium has the right to vote on default. As the United States has no delegate, that leaves four entitled to vote on reparations. Italy is considered likely to vote on reparations in case of dispute or doubt as to whether a default was voluntary or not, and therefore subjecting Germany to treaty penalties. A default is a question which a majority vote will decide.

Great Britain and Italy versus France and Belgium would make a deadlock. In such cases, apparently by some rule of the commission itself, the president has a double vote. As France always has, and probably will have, the presidency, that assures to France and Belgium the power to declare Germany in voluntary default regardless of the opinions, judgment or desires of all other allies.

As France insists that in case of voluntary default she may take independent action, and refuses to arbitrate or submit the question to the world court, the only way to insure against a complete rupture is to take from France the power to declare a voluntary default. The French government wishes to control both functions. The British wish to at least confine French control to one function.

In this lies the fundamental disagreement and this explanation should help readers to understand the daily dispatches referring to the London conference.

After Another Forty Years

Long Beach Press

Forty years ago this month the Santa Fe Railroad came to Southern California, crossing the Colorado River at The Needles on the Atlantic and Pacific Company's great bridge, which was completed at that time.

With the railroads came development for the Pacific Southwest. First the tourist, then the home seeker and the tiller of the soil, and finally commercial and industrial hosts. Now all of these interests are contributing to the growth and prosperity of this region.

The Santa Fe, after forty years, is reaching into Long Beach. It has been preceded by the Southern Pacific and the Salt Lake systems, the last named today the property of the Union Pacific Company.

Forty years hence, what will be the status of Southern California, of Long Beach, with reference to transportation, to development, to business, to population?

If the pioneering of the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe, assisted later by the Salt Lake and the Union Pacific, has transformed what was once supposed to be a desert into the wealthiest and most populous district west of the Mississippi, what may not be expected now that these feeble efforts, perfected by the experience and inventions of a life time are supplemented by the modern highway and the aircraft, and by an American merchant marine, served by the Panama Canal?

An entrancing future lies before Southern California, especially for the harbor area.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

YOUR REGULATOR

You are still hearing a great deal about the thyroid gland—the lump in the front of the neck—that is so prominent in some people. All the other ductless glands, those above the kidneys, those below the thyroid, the little ones up in the skull, are all important to the body mechanism. In fact there seems to be a relation between all these glands, as if they were a sort of system in themselves. They appear to be the regulators of the body's activities, not originating these activities, but regulating them.

The thyroid is so prominent, has been investigated so thoroughly, and experiments thereon and with the substance secreted in it have been so remarkable, that naturally there is more talk about it than any of the other glands. And when you think of all the things it is supposed to do in that body of yours, you cannot wonder that everybody is interested.

For instance, if you grow suddenly fat or suddenly thin, in the absence of other definite cause, then your thyroid, some disturbances of it, is responsible. The same applies from the mental standpoint. A bright youngster becoming dull and listless, may often be due to interference of some kind with the thyroid.

Your ability to fight off infection, your resisting power, lies to a great extent with the condition of the thyroid.

Harmful substances get into your intestine, thence into the blood, and as the blood causes passed through the thyroid these substances are rendered harmless by the action of the thyroid's secretion. If the thyroid is not so secreting properly, it not only does not take care of the blood certain substances that the blood needs for maintaining the body's strength.

Hence in young people, young girl's about puberty, there is a thinning of the blood from this cause, that makes them feel tired all the time. When the thyroid manufactures too much of this secretion, you see the large neck, the bulging eyes, and the rapid heart, because it makes all parts of the body work too hard. When it doesn't manufacture enough, then you see the opposite condition. The person doesn't want to do much, mentally or physically. Some of these cases grow very fat indeed.

That the emotions can interfere with the secretion is well known, and persons can trace their first trouble in this region to some deep emotional disturbance, either of joy or sorrow. The treatment by rest and proper food, under the direction of the physician, has been very successful.

BRIDAL SONG

To the sound of timbrels sweet Moving slow our solemn feet,
We have borne thee on the road
To the virgin's blest abode;
With thy yellow torches gleaming,
And thy scarlet mantle streaming
And the canopy above
Swaying as we slowly move.

Thou hast left the joyous feast,
And the mirth and wine hath ceased;
And now we set thee down before
The jealousy-unclinging door,
That the favor'd youth admits
Where the veiled virgin sits
In the bliss of maiden fear, Waiting our soft tread to hear.
And the music's brisker din
At the bridegroom's entering in Entering in, a welcome guest,
To the chamber of his rest.

Memorial to Pilgrims

Long Beach Press

A memorial to the Pilgrims has been dedicated near Hull, England. Americans had prominent part in the ceremonies.

Pilgrim blood is felt strongly in American life. It is a sound, wholesome influence. It is felt in private life, as multitudes of descendants of the early Puritans have gone forth to settle in all sections of the United States and to have part in the great activities of public and private life. The Pilgrim influence is felt today in the White House. For the president comes of that sturdy stock.

The term "Puritanical" oftentimes is used as a sneer. It never should be an opprobrious epithet in this country. While the early Puritans admittedly went to some excesses in intolerance, in their zeal to maintain godliness, yet the general character of that rugged New England stock has been and is a heritage of inestimable value to the American people.

Those Pilgrims of the Mayflower were heroic souls. They braved death on the angry waters, and they faced the fury of truculent savages, that they might here set up a republic based upon religious freedom.

"What sought they thus afar?
Bright jewels of the mine?
The wealth of seas, the spoils of war?—
They sought a faith's pure shrine!
Ay, call it holy ground,
The soil where first they trod:
They have left unstained what there they found,— Freedom to worship God."

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Pope

Me and Leroy Shooster and Sam Cross and Skinny Martin was taking a wawk tawking about different subjects such as which we would rather be, a horse or a dog, and how it must feel to fall out of a 10 story window and how it must feel to even fall out of a 4 story window, and we came to some kid jumping around in front of his house with a pair of boxing gloves on in a imaginary boxing match.

Prison Reform

San Bernardino Sun

Perhaps succeeding years may see drastic changes in the California prison situation. For months Governor Richardson has been seeking a warden for San Quentin, it develops from the gossip from reports that August Vollmer, former chief of police of Los Angeles can have the place if he desires it. Several months ago he did not desire it, and probably other men have refused it. Apparently the Governor has in mind a man of capacity for the place.

But that is not all that is needed. It is not even the first thing that is needed. What is needed most in California prisons is new legislation to make it possible to bring about accomplishments for which there is a crying need.

Ideas of imprisonment have undergone rapid changes in recent years and California has not kept abreast with this new thought. At a tremendous expense the State confines several thousand criminals, most of whom serve their sentences in comparative idleness and leave prison not improved one iota in ways that would help them to lead a different life than that from which the hand of the law had taken them. A convict now receives a $5 bill and a prison-made suit of clothes when he walks out a free man. With that he is expected to make good. He has a chance unless there are friends and relatives waiting to help him. Most frequently there is no such assistance in prospect.

There are two thoughts in the modern idea of imprisonment. First the prisoner should become as nearly self-sustaining as possible and thus relieve the taxpayer. Second a portion of his earnings in prison should accrue to his account so that his years behind the bars will not have been entirely wasted and that when he is released he may have funds with which to aid in re-establishing himself as a member of society.

Present laws in California make this situation impossible. The old idea was that the product of convict labor should not go into competition with other labor. The present laws have been held intact largely by the influence of organized labor and manufacturing associations, but sentiment within these bodies is undergoing a change.

The change in this old-time thought has been indicated right here in San Bernardino. In former years all construction work at the Southern California State hospital was done by contract and regular mechanics did the work. In recent years, however, patient labor has been largely employed, and successfully. At first there was a disposition among labor organizations here to protest. Representatives did make investigations, but the humanitarian side of the situation appealed to them as it appeals to any other citizen. Union carpenters in San Bernardino are content that the unfortunate at Patton shall be employed in occupations that bring relief to brains that in physical idleness contain only the worries that undermined their mentality. And then, too, employment of patient labor is relieving the burdens of the taxpayers.

The warden of San Quentin should take a leaf out of the book at Patton, where every patient who is mentally and physically able to work is employed at some interesting occupation. He is helping to sustain himself and is aiding in the cure for his mental troubles.

Dr. John A. Rely pioneered the way in this thought in California institutions and the years have proved it a success. Patton hospital is one of the models of institutional life in America.

Woven into the scheme of life at Patton are deeds done for humanity. The theory is carried out in minute detail. For instance there must be flowers on the tables in every cottage where live the patients, but those patients whose mental troubles relax in such an atmosphere, must grow those flowers.

In the California prisons there stands waiting even a greater opportunity than in the hospitals, for convicts are generally normal as to mentality that has to do with the functions of labor. California prisoners could not only be made entirely self-supporting and thus bring a tremendous relief to taxpayers but they could give within men to prepare to regain their lost place in society. California legislators could well turn their attention to such a prospect.

Welcome Criticism

There is no thought that could not be expressed differently, no writing with which we all agree. When we actually do things, we invite criticism.

If you are worthy and successful you will arouse envy. If you are incapable, folks will call you a fool. Successful or unsuccessful, people will talk about you.

But criticism should only make you pep up and do your best. Unfavorable comment should simply make you more watchful.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 1—WEENY, THE CIRCUS ELEPHANT

"I wonder if the Fairy Queen will send us another adventure," said Nancy to Nick, as they ran down to the meadow to play.

"Let's look beside the stone under the chestnut tree," said Nick.

And there, sure enough, were the magic green shoes and beside them a letter. The letter said:

"Dear Twins:
"You have been such good children that I thought you would like to go on a vacation. My good friend, Weeny, the elephant, is going to take a trip around the world, and if you like you may take the magic shoes and go with him."

"Weeny lives in the jungle and if you put on your magic shoes they will take you to him at once. I hope that you will have a nice time and that you will see many interesting things."

"Lovingly Yours,
"The Fairy Queen."

"Hurrah!" cried Nick.

"Goody!" cried Nancy.

And into the magic shoes they jumped in a hurry.

Puff, whizz, swish! Away they went through the air like two little comets, until they came to the jungle.

And there was Weeny packing his satchel.

"Hello!" he called. "I thought you would be here soon. The Fairy Queen told me to expect you. Did you bring any peanuts along?"

"We never thought of them," said Nancy, regretfully.

"We never mind. It's too late now," said Weeny. "Besides, most likely we'll run into
